Bali handshake of the day by Modi, Xi

First in-person cordial greeting after Galwan

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

AHEAD of assuming charge of G20 Presidency, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday had a few bilaterals and bonhomie with heads of state and government at Bali, but what caught the eye was his smiling handshake and a brief exchange with Chinese President Xi Jinping.

The handshake came towards the end of a gala dinner Indonesian President Joko Widodo has hosted for the visitors. Modi and Xi exchanged normal courtesies, official sources said.

This was the first time they interacted after the Galwan brawl in Ladakh in 2020 that left 20 Indian soldiers dead and put bilateral ties in deep freeze. Their exchange may not indicate a return to normalcy between the two countries, but it was nevertheless interesting.

Among the meetings Modi had with other leaders included US President Joe Biden, British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak and French President Emmanuel Macron. Modi and Biden reviewed the continuing deepening of the India-US strategic partnership, including cooperation in sectors like critical and emerging technologies, advanced computing and artificial intelligence.

"Happy to have met Joe Biden, we had fruitful exchanges on key issues,'' tweeted Modi. He thanked Biden for his constant support for strengthening the India-US partnership.

In his first interaction with Sunak since he assumed charge as PM, Modi said he was looking forward to working together with him in the times to come.

Modi also addressed a G20 session on food and energy security, where he emphasised the need to restore peace in Ukraine. "We have to find a way to return to the path of ceasefire and diplomacy in Ukraine... The need of the hour is to show concrete and collective resolve to ensure peace, harmony and security in the world. I am confident that next year when the G20 meets in the holy land of Buddha and Gandhi, we will all agree to convey a strong message of peace to the world," Modi said.

He also spoke about global supply chains being in ruins due to climate change, the pandemic and the Ukraine conflict. "The challenge for the poor citizens of every country is more severe. Everyday life was already a struggle for them," he said.

Modi also took time out to interact with over 800 members of the Indian diaspora. He referred to the age old tradition of Bali Jatra to highlight the enduring cultural and trade connect between India and Indonesia. P12

MODI ECHO IN G20 DRAFT

1. Draft G20 communique almost echoes Modi's words to Putin in Samarkand. It says today's era "must not be of war"
2. Indian delegation played big role in achieving consensus among member states over the wording criticising the Russian invasion, UK's Financial Times reported
3. "The use or threat of use of nuclear weapons is inadmissible. The peaceful resolution of conflicts, efforts to address crises, as well as diplomacy and dialogue, are vital. Today's era must not be of war," the draft statement said
4. India has not yet condemned the Russian invasion of Ukraine. It has been maintaining that the crisis must be resolved through diplomacy and dialogue
5. On Ukraine war, Modi said at a G20 event, "I have repeatedly said that we have to find a way to return to the path of ceasefire and diplomacy in Ukraine. Over the past century, the Second World War wreaked havoc in the world."

12K Indian engineers fear losing jobs as Kuwait demands NOC

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

AROUND 12,000 engineers from India who are working in Kuwait are facing the risk of losing their jobs. Reason: The Kuwait Society of Engineers (KSE) is insisting on no objection certificate (NOC) clearance from engineers who have studied in colleges in India which do not have National Board of Accreditation (NBA) certification.

According to the Indian engineers working in Kuwait, the engineering degree certificates issued by many Indian colleges were earlier recognised and are now suddenly being de-recognised for want of NBA certification.

The issue has been highlighted in a memorandum submitted to Dr Arathi Krishna, former deputy chairman, NRI Forum, Government of Karnataka, by Vaikunth R Shenoy, a mechanical engineer who works in M/s Bader Al Mulla & Bros. Co.

Shenoy said the issue is being consistently raised with the Indian embassy in Kuwait, but nothing has been done.

"In 2018, the KSE brought up the issue of re-verification of engineering degrees. In 2020, it raised the issue of re-verification of the engineering degrees after re-stamping by Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Kuwait (MOFA). This year, they again brought up the issue of re-verification of engineering degrees through data flow (document verification by third party). Now, KSE is demanding NBA certification for 4 years of engineering studies," said Shenoy. P5

NRN calls for Socratic-type of learning

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WHILE India has scripted several success stories in the field of science, including producing two Covid-19 vaccines and inoculating a huge number of its citizens through the pandemic, the country still faced huge challenges in terms of conducting scientific research, Infosys founder NR Narayana Murthy said on Tuesday.

Speaking at the 14th Infosys Prize 2022, Murthy attributed the country's inability to address immediate pressing problems using scientific research to a lack of inculcating curiosity among Indians at an early age, disconnect between pure and applied research, inadequate cutting-edge research infrastructure in higher educational institutions, insufficient grants and inordinate delays in creating incentives for research and inadequate fora for knowledge-sharing with global research institutions.

Highlighting two important components for successful research in India, he said the first was to reorient teaching to inculcating among the students a Socratic style of questioning and then applying what they learn in the classrooms to solve real-world problems.

The next was to focus on solving immediate problems. This would lead to students developing a mindset that would orient itself to solving bigger problems rather than learning by rote, he said. Murthy said the IITs too were bring victimised by rote learning and blamed it on the "tyranny of coaching classes". P2

Body parts recovered, head still missing

UJWAL JALALI @ New Delhi

DELHI police on Tuesday recovered 10 more plastic bags containing body parts, suspected to be of Shraddha Walkar, who was allegedly strangled to death and cut into 35 slices by her live-in partner Aaftab Amin Poonawala. However, the victim's head is yet to be traced.

According to official sources, the body parts recovered so far are in a highly decomposed state and will have to be sent for DNA analysis to establish the identity.

Sources added that after Shraddha's murder, Aaftab met another woman via Bumble app and brought her to the same house where the chopped body remains of Shraddha were kept in a refrigerator. "Whatever the accused is claiming has to be verified through evidence," sources added.

Police will now write to the US-headquartered Bumble dating app to seek the details of Aaftab's profile and know how many women he was in contact with and screen the chats to understand his psyche.

Sukesh, first nabbed by B'luru cop 14 years ago, cheated even tough police officers

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

CONMAN Sukesh Chandrashekar, who has made serious bribery allegations against former Delhi minister Satyender Jain, was first arrested by Assistant Commissioner of Police M Babu in Bengaluru 14 years ago.

Like Madhukar Zende, who caught the infamous criminal Charles Sobhraj, Babu too has entered criminal history books being the first to incarcerate Sukesh, who has fine tuned his criminal craft from his initial days of hoodwinking and impersonation.

Babu recalled that Sukesh, who is now in Tihar Jail for cheating a businessman of Rs 200 crore, had swindled even tough and no-nonsense policemen of the Hulimavu police station all those years ago.

He collected money from constables and head constables and duped them. The policemen complained to their higher-ups only much later, he said.

Later, Sukesh had cheated a sitting minister in Tamil Nadu of Rs 10 lakh and a high-end car saying that he was the "illegitimate" son of a former chief minister of Karnataka.

Babu recalled how Sukesh moved around in his victims' cars with beacons, claiming himself to be a VVIP.

Policemen had told Babu that they would snap into attention and throw a crisp salute as the car would pass by thinking that it was the VIP's son inside the vehicle.

Sukesh had even convinced the wife of a then-budding politician, who went on to become an MP, to buy him a Maruti Zen car.

When he was finally caught, Sukesh confessed to both these crimes. Even 14 years ago, Sukesh had six cars, some of them top end, and the police recovered all of them. CONTINUED ON: P4

'WILIEST CHEAT'

ACP Babu, who spent hours questioning the conman, said Sukesh is as crooked as Charles Sobhraj and is the "wiliest cheat" he has encountered.

TRAFFIC WOES: VARTHUR-BALAGERE ROAD BEING WIDENED TO 18 METRES

Palike faces hurdle with some land losers rejecting TDR, demanding cash compensation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru:

DAYS after reports and videos of traffic gridlocked on Varthur-Balagere main road connecting Panathur, where schoolchildren were stuck for over two hours recently, the Palike has said it will widen the road to 18 metres from the existing 12 metres. This road stretch has gained notoriety, with agitations by parents and children demanding that traffic be eased, and Biocon chief Kiran Mazumdar Shaw tweeting about it.

At present, the road is 9 to 12 metres wide, and in Varthur village area, the road shrinks to 6m. "Widening the road along this stretch is a 'comprehensive development project'. It is worth Rs 18 crore and was initiated in 2019 end. So far, the BBMP road infrastructure department has completed 60 per cent work, and may take another six months to complete the project," said Jayashankar Reddy, executive engineer, BBMP road infrastructure department.

So far, 60 per cent of the road work has been completed and the rest will be over in another six months

The stretch from Kadubeesanahalli to Panathur is complete, and the municipal body is now facing issues with owners demanding monetary compensation instead of Transferable Development Rights (TDR), Reddy said.

Some owners have agreed for TDR but with the government failing to coming up with a new policy on it, Palike officials say it will take time to issue TDR certificates. The Palike is also facing an issue from dwellers of Economically Weaker Section (EWS) quarters in Varthur. "The process of shifting the dwellers is on. Once work is completed, the traffic situation will improve," the official said.

As per the BBMP document, the 5.9-km road stretch will have two main carriageways, drains and footpaths on either side, streetlights and one railway underbridge near Panathur.

In all, 143 private properties, 11 government properties and three revenue properties are to be acquired. If monetary compensation for private property owners is settled, the starting point from Panathur RUB to East End point -- Varthur-Gunjur road – will be through, say BBMP officials.

Another deadline goes by, one more date set

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has once again missed its pothole-filling deadline and set a new one of November 19. Earlier, the date was set at November 15.

Palike Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath contended that since it was rainy weather for the last four days, they were not able to meet the earlier deadline. "The target of filling potholes will be met by November 19," he said at a press conference at the BBMP headquarters on Tuesday.

In May, the civic body had identified 33,000 potholes across the city. Of these, 32,000 have been filled, Girinath said adding that if there are 'dry days' for a day or two, the remaining 1,000 potholes will be covered.

The Palike is preparing to declare roads pothole free zone wise soon, he said.

On a 35-year-old biker in Rajajinagar dying after his two-wheeler reportedly skid on the road on Monday, he said, "We inspected the spot and it was not due to a pothole." The departments concerned will take note of this and the police will submit an investigation report.

Bike rider skids, sits in pothole in protest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WHILE the city administration was busy during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit on November 11, a biker escaped death or grievous injuries by a whisker after his two-wheeler skid due to a pothole near Adarsha theatre in Ulsoor. In anger, the biker sat on the pothole and staged a protest. The incident reportedly happened early Friday morning and video clips of the incident captured by passersby soon made it into social media platforms generating sharp criticism for the BBMP.

Netizens also slammed local MLA S Raghu as the stretch is said to fall under his CV Raman Nagar Assembly segment and borders Shanthinagar and Shivajinagar. They also targeted the government for filling potholes only when the PM visits, or when someone dies or gets injured on the road.

After the video of the incident went viral, the Palike started the work on fixing the pothole. "We had taken up work a month ago, but due to the rain, the tarring was delayed," said Siddesh, Assistant Engineer, Major Roads, BBMP.

The opposition Congress used the opportunity to lash out at the ruling BJP. "The government has no plan for development. During their first term between, they turned Bengaluru into a 'garbage city' and now, during the second stint, they turned the IT capital into a pothole junction," said Ramalinga Reddy, former Bengaluru incharge minister.

HC ASKS PALIKE TO ALLOW DEVELOPER TO COMPLETE SKYWALK

Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court on Tuesday dismissed the appeal filed by Bruhat Bangalore Mahanagara Palike against the quashing the civic agency's decision to cancel the skywalk project entrusted to Shakti Developers Pvt Ltd at the Satellite Bus Stand on Bengaluru-Mysuru Road. A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Ashok S Kinagi said the Palike should allow the developer to complete the skywalk. In June 2022, a single judge quashed the civic body's decision to cancel the project entrusted to the developer. Claiming that the project was not completed within the stipulated period, the BBMP had cancelled the project. The single judge had quashed the BBMP's decision as the delay was due to the whitetopping work on Mysuru Road and objection raised by the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation. ENS

Murthy lauds Indian firms for Covid vaccine

HE said the nation's progress on the economic and social fronts depended on the quality of scientific and technological research. Referring to the recent death of 66 children in Gambia in West Africa allegedly due to a cough syrup produced in India, Murthy said it "has brought unimaginable shame to our country and has dented the credibility of pharmaceutical regulatory agency."

He, however, lauded companies which manufactured and supplied the billion Covid-19 vaccines, and also appreciated the rollout of the new National Education Policy based on the recommendations of Dr K Kasturirangan Committee. Besides, he also appreciated Dr Gagandeep Kang and several others on becoming fellows of the Royal Society in London, and Professor Ashok Sen winning the Millenium prize.

However, he said: "These are all encouraging and happy events that show that India is on a path of growth, but we still have huge challenges," Murthy added.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

16TH November: A Pisces influence lends a touch of gentle softness to the day. Pisces is the sign of imagination, artistic expression and deep compassion for the underdog. My advice is to enjoy the things of the mind, and of the spirit. Practical tasks can be left until later. At least, that's what the stars say!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You might be the managing director or the chairman of the board, but one way or another you'll have to sit down and listen to what other people feel. You may even have to do exactly what they want. Come to think of it, that might not be a bad thing.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The financial situation, by the way, is looking hopeful just as long as you check every microscopic detail. Before very much longer you will come to be admired for your knowledge and wisdom. But, first, of course, you have to prove yourself, and that could take some doing!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
A potent gathering of powerful planets urges you to sort out funda-mentals, but also to do things in your way. Children and other relations should therefore fall into line. At least, that's what you hope! But, if they don't, then there might not be much that you can do about it!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You do have a lot to learn at the moment. In fact, the whole of the coming few months should see you acquiring new skills and experience. Even a romantic encounter will teach you more about love. But then that's what life is all about - learning significant lessons.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Little by little, planetary pressure is easing. What a relief! As the celestial tension lifts, you will be able to stand aside and allow other people to take over where you left off. You don't have to do everything by yourself, you know, especially when you're surrounded by willing hands.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
A whole bunch of planets is soon to shuffle places, so you might be doing a spot of head-scratching as you look around and wonder why everything's not like it was last week. You must take it easy at home, especially if you don't want others to pile the pressure on.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The Moon is still on your side. You may therefore expect to get your own way. You can, if you wish, imitate the somewhat bossy qualities of your opposite sign, Aries. A cash surprise is coming your way, but your chart doesn't say how much. I hope you're not disappointed!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There does seem to be some change of mood today, encouraged by the Moon's shifting position. You may reveal a secret, or at the very least share some private information. You will gain credit for your behaviour, even if you have to make one or two sacrifices along the way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your planetary trends may not be perfect, but they are still helpful, so be content with your lot. You may give social contacts a high priority today, especially as you might be entrusted with a secret tonight. Your discretion will win a new friend.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There's still an excellent chance for all you professional Capricorns to secure an immediate goal. All Goats everywhere should be diplomatic and polite, even if other people are behaving badly. Remember what they say - two wrongs don't make a right.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Hopefully a loved one is about to change their mind, and hopefully you will be very happy at the outcome. You may apply a little more emotional pressure, but don't push a partner into a corner. They won't appreciate it, now - and they won't let you forget it, later.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Do listen to expert advice over the next two weeks. And if a partner doesn't take the romantic initiative soon, you should make your move. Start asking questions at work as soon as possible, and look at ways in which you can help someone else out of a tight corner.

Saleem's mission: Snarl-free roads

SENIOR IPS officer, Additional Director General of Police MA Saleem, who took charge as Special Commissioner (Traffic) of Bengaluru city, said decongesting city roads was his top priority.

Saleem, who was ADGP Administration, and was transferred to the upgraded post of Special Commissioner (Traffic) on Monday, took charge from Joint Commissioner of Police (Traffic) BR Ravikanthe Gowda on Tuesday. He held marathon meetings with senior officers of Bengaluru Traffic Police.

Saleem told TNIE that his priority was to ease congestion on roads. "I need to study the problems related to traffic in the city. Only after that, I will be able to address them. However, the traffic situation has changed a lot over the past few years and vehicle population has increased manifold, but the BTP has been successful in addressing several issues."

He said a lot of change can be seen in the coming days as the government is improving the public transport system, such as the commuter rail project. Saleem said technology will be used to improve traffic, and automated enforcement will continue. "There is no need to stop vehicles to check for documents. Enforcement will be done by leveraging technology," he added.

CUPID COPS: COUPLE TIES KNOT UNDER KHAKI SECURITY

Bengaluru: When a couple started receiving threats from their families after they decided to get married, they approached Nelamangala Town police, whose officers on Monday facilitated their marriage. Karibasappa (24) from Haveri, and Sindhu (19) from Karwar, had eloped after their families objected to their marriage over caste. They approached the police and convinced them that they were adults, who immediately bought garlands, took the couple to Rudreshwara Temple, and witnessed them tie the nuptial knot at midnight. The officers also arranged for a mangalsutra. Karibasappa, a mechanic, and Sindhu, a B.Com graduate are residents of KR Puram. The police also called the members of both the families to the police station in the evening, but they refused to participate in the marriage. However, they assured the police that they will not contact the couple again. ENS

Detention centre for women immigrants to come up in Tumakuru, says Sood

CHETAN MG @Bengaluru

AN exclusive detention centre, probably the first in India for women from foreign countries, who have allegedly committed crimes and overstayed without legal documents, will be coming up in Tumakuru soon. This will be the third detention centre in the state.

With the state police cracking down on illegal immigrants involved in crimes such as drug peddling and cyber offences, the number of deportations from the state has soared over the last two years, DG & IGP Praveen Sood told TNIE.

In Karnataka, the first detention centre was set up in Sondekoppa village near Nelamangala, about 40 km from Bengaluru, in 2020. A second one came up on the same premises as the density of inmates increased.

However, as more women from foreign countries are being detained for overstaying and arrested for various crimes, the state police department had mooted an exclusive detention centre for women.

In August, Home Minister Araga Jnanendra, Minister for Social Welfare Kota Shrinivas Poojari, and senior officials of both the departments including Sood held a meeting to discuss increasing the capacity of detention centres. The exclusive detention centre for women will be developed by the social welfare department.

"The number of deportations over the last two to three years is more than that of the numbers in the last 30 years. With the existing detention centre in Nelamangala overflowing, there was a need for another centre. The cases of women from foreign countries overstaying and committing crimes are growing, and so, an exclusive detention centre for women has been planned in Tumakuru," Sood said.

Most of the women are from the Africa and Bangladesh, he said.

"Cases of women from Africa being arrested for drug peddling, cybercrimes, prostitution, illegal staying and overstaying are increasing. Similarly, the number of illegal women immigrants from Bangladesh is also on the rise," the state police chief said.

● K'taka silk price to touch ₹8K a kg soon ● Red chilli price rises, hits ₹45,000 per quintal

FARMERS CHEER HAPPY HARVEST

Sericulturists have some good news

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE state government is helping farmers take up sericulture as a source of additional income with the demand for silk from the state going up over the last few months. With the increased demand, the prices, which had hit rock bottom during Covid, have been going up.

Karnataka has over 1.38 lakh sericulture farmers, who grow cocoons, over 7,000 silk reelers, who make silk yarn from these cocoons and meets nearly 50 per cent of the country's demand. The annual production of cocoons is 80,396 tonnes, while that of raw silk is around 12,000 tonnes, which is 48 per cent of the total raw silk produced in the country, officials said.

Sources in the State Sericulture Department said the demand for Karnataka silk is going up with the central government banning China silk, and the demand for French silk going down. "Now, the price of silk is Rs 4,500-6,500 per kg and it is expected to touch Rs 8,000 in the next few months," they said. During Covid, it had gone down below Rs 2,000.

In Karnataka, cocoons grown in Ramanagara and Sidlaghatta in Tumakuru are considered the best quality. Though these were silk belts for centuries, farmers were moving away from sericulture as China silk, which was preferred for its low cost, was dominating the market. The ban has brought back the demand for local silk, sending its prices up.

The initial push came when the state resumed supply of silk to weavers of Varanasi after a gap of 20 years. "Our silk is the best in the country. There is a demand for 3,000 metric tonnes from Varanasi. In the very first few days, we got a request for 300 MT. We are signing a memorandum of understanding with the National Handloom Development Corporation which gives subsidies to weavers there so that they can buy silk from us," Sericulture Minister Narayana Gowda told The New Indian Express. He, too, said silk prices would go up in the near future.

The government is also developing and upgrading infrastructure to meet the increased demand. "We are conducting programmes to motivate farmers to take sericulture as an additional occupation. We are also providing subsidies to set up reelers at home. Earlier, the price of cocoons was low and kept fluctuating. But now, it has stabilised to around Rs 750 per kg for the last one-and-a-half years, giving confidence to farmers to take it up. We are constructing hi-tech silk markets in Haveri, Hubballi, Tumakuru and Kalaburagi spending Rs 15 crore on each, while the biggest one at a cost of Rs 75 crore will come up in Ramanagara," an official said.

Chilly nights for farmers guarding precious chilli

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

FARMERS across the state have suffered losses because of incessant rain, but chilli growers are happy as they are getting a good price - as high as Rs 45,000 per quintal - in Gadag market this year. With the high price has come the threat of theft and farmers are now camping near their fields to protect their precious commodity.

Last year, the price had touched Rs 25,000 per quintal during November and this year, it has nearly doubled. The possibility of chilli theft is so serious that gram panchayats have made public announcements, using local drums, that farmers are responsible for their own crops. Surprised and wary, growers have put up tents near their farms and are spending chilly winter nights guarding chilli.

A farmer said, "It is good news that the price has gone up in November itself. We are all now guarding the crop day and night and will stay in our farms till we sell the crop. Three farmers from Ron taluk have lost crops worth over Rs 1 lakh and have also filed police complaints."

A gram panchayat staff member from Menasagi said, "This year, many farmers lost their chilli crop because of heavy rain. Whatever has remained is fetching a good price. We have already spread the crop to dry in our fields. However, some miscreants, mostly from our own villages, are stealing the crop at night."

A police official from Ron said, "We have formed a team to keep vigil and our officials will visit all villages at night."

Congress extends date to submit applications for Assembly polls

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) that had invited applications from interested candidates to contest Assembly polls, has extended the last date for submitting applications to November 21. According to the earlier schedule, November 15 was the last date for applications. The party is expected to scrutinise the applicants and announce a list of 150 candidates by December-end.

The party has fixed a fee of Rs 5,000 per application, and the amount collected will be used for party expenses. KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed told TNIE that more than 1,000 people have taken applications and are in the process of submitting them. Many leaders, legislators and aspirants have applied, he added.

Some constituencies are in demand, like Bengaluru Rural, Devanahalli, Hubballi-Dharwad and Tumakuru, with 8 to 10 aspirants submitting applications.

Explaining the selection process, Saleem said they are getting ground reports from each District Congress Committee. More than 1,000 people have been doing a survey over the past six months, and three surveys have already been completed. The selection committee will keep all these reports in mind while scrutinising the candidate list.

"We will form a Pradesh Election Committee which will scrutinise and shortlist two or three names per assembly constituency. This will be sent to the Central Election Committee which will announce the final list," he said.

Saleem said that Congress leaders are in talks with a few BJP and JDS leaders who have expressed the desire to contest from the Congress. Of 224 assembly constituencies, the party will finalise names for 150 seats. Party leaders want these candidates to get a head start, so they have time to get to know the constituency problems and draw up strategies, a senior party leader said, on condition of anonymity.

The Congress, which is aiming to win 150 seats, is putting in all efforts to select winnable candidates, despite its internal issues. According to sources, most of the sitting Congress MLAs will be given tickets.

IBRAHIM ADVICE

'Siddu better off contesting from Varuna'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

JDS state president CM Ibrahim on Tuesday had a word of advice to his former colleague Siddaramaiah, saying the Congress leader should contest the 2023 Assembly election from the Varuna constituency and not Kolar, where he would be defeated. Ibrahim said Siddaramaiah should not listen to sycophants as it would definitely lead to his defeat. "I don't want Siddaramaiah to exit from politics on a note of failure," he added.

He said the first list of JDS candidates will be announced soon and a few leaders may quit as there are three to four aspirants in some constituencies. Claiming that no one can stop party senior leader HD Kumaraswamy from becoming a chief minister, he said people are fed up with both Congress and BJP. Ibrahim said Mysuru district will become Congress-mukt as JDS will win the majority of the seats.

He criticised BJP MP Prathap Simha for attacking Mysuru ruler Tipu Sultan, who was lauded for his courage, conviction and administration.

Political circles abuzz as Basavaraju meets CLP leader's aide

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Tumakuru

WITH BJP Lok Sabha member G S Basavaraju's meeting with former MLA K N Rajanna, a staunch supporter of CLP leader Siddaramaiah, raising eyebrows in political circles here on Tuesday, rumours abound that the former may return to the Congress party. This follows the prospect that the BJP is unlikely to give him a ticket for the 2024 General Election.

In fact, Basavaraju had recently declared that he will not be contesting the LS polls, but is trying to safeguard the political interests of his son and Tumakuru City BJP MLA G B Jyothiganesh. According to sources, if the Congress high command assures a ticket to Jyothiganesh for the 2023 Assembly polls, Basavaraju may extend his support to the party.

The veteran Lingayat leader has his own clout within the community in the district, and his switching sides would help the Congress in 2-3 Assembly segments, out of 11 in the district. Basavaraju was originally with the Congress and had joined former CM B S Yediyurappa's KJP, eventually following the latter to the BJP. Now since Yediyurappa is not the CM candidate from the BJP, Basavaraju is likely to take his own decision, sources said. In the 2019 LS polls, he took the support of Rajanna and defeated former PM H D Deve Gowda, the JDS-Congress alliance candidate. Since he is on good terms with Siddaramaiah, Rajanna initiated negotiations to bring him back to the Congress, a source said. During the elections to the MLC seat from local bodies, Basavaraju backed Rajanna's son Rajendra to victory.

Briefing reporters, Rajanna said he will back the candidature of former deputy chief minister Dr G Parameshwara for the CM post, if the situation arises.

Meanwhile, former MLA H Ningappa, who hails from the Vokkaliga community, resigned from the JDS and declared that he will join the Congress.

CBI lists 70 cases against Sukesh

NOW that he has been arrested yet again, the Central Bureau of Investigation has drawn up a long list of 70 cases against the criminal. Some of them include Sukesh impersonating as an IAS officer and as a grandson of a former chief minister of Tamil Nadu.

Babu, who spent hours questioning the conman, said Sukesh is as crooked as Charles Sobhraj and is the "wiliest cheat" he has encountered. "He tried to cheat me with a bunch of juicy lies and offers. Sukesh knows the law fairly well and uses the loopholes to devastating effect," he added.

Some police officers said that cheating is not considered a serious offence and draws lesser punishment, as compared to, say, a murder, but can have a horrendous effect on victims.

SIDDARAMAIAH'S BHAGYAS REMAINED ONLY ON PAPER: CM

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai inaugurates the BJP's 'Jana Sankalpa Yatra' in Kadur, in Chikkamagaluru district, on Tuesday, as former CM B S Yediyurappa, BJP national general secretary CT Ravi and MLA Belli Prakash look on.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kadur (Chikkamagaluru)

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday mocked Siddaramaiah for saying the BJP's Jana Sankalpa Yatra is lacklustre without any audience.

"A sea of people are attending the yatra, but Siddaramaiah can't see them as he is jealous," Bommai said at the yatra organised by MLA Belli Prakash on the premises of APMC yard, here.

"Siddaramaiah is projecting himself as the next chief minister and is seeking the support of the people. But first, he should get the support of (KPCC president) DK Shivakumar. When he became chief minister in 2013, he announced a bagful of bhagyas, which remained only on paper. That was the reason he had to sit in the opposition after the 2018 polls," Bommai said.

Taking potshots at Siddaramaiah for talking about corruption, he alleged that during the former CM's tenure, there was 100 percent corruption in the minor irrigation department and purchase of pillows and beds for the social welfare department hostels.

"It was he who sowed seeds of poison among different castes and religions. Twenty Hindu activists were murdered in the state during your rule. People have not forgotten it . Why should they make you CM again? You formed Ahinda and left them behind and committed injustices against SC/STs and OBCs," Bommai charged.

Welfare of shepherds

The chief minister said the government has sanctioned Rs 354 crore for the welfare of shepherds and will release Rs 600 crore for the Stages 2 and 3 of Bhadra Sun-Valley project. An order will be passed within a month to form a separate milk union for Chikkamagaluru district, he added.

Former CM BS Yediyurappa, who too spoke, exuded confidence that BJP will emerge as the single largest party in the 2023 elections by winning 160 seats including all the five from Chikkamagaluru district.

"Congress is a sinking ship. Modi's development works have created a congenial atmosphere for BJP in the state," he said.

Bommai distances himself from Simha's statement

SHIVAMOGGA: Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has expressed that Mysuru MP Prathap Simha is responsible for his statements. Speaking to reporters at Kadur in Chikkamagaluru district on Tuesday, Bommai said that he does not want to comment on every statement leaders make, as they have to explain on what basis they give such statements. Simha had reportedly warned of demolishing bus stands which resembled mosques.

MYSURU: Stating that the 2023 Karnataka Assembly election is a do or die battle for Constitution and democracy, former minister Dr H C Mahadevappa said there is need to put up a united fight against communal forces. Speaking at the launch of 'Siddaramaiah-75', a book penned by Harish Kumar here on Tuesday, he hailed the former CM's leadership and it is high time that all those who benefitted by the programmes and schemes launched by the Siddaramaiah government, to unify the country and keep communal forces away from power. "Those who benefitted from the schemes and programmes launched during the Siddaramaiah government should at least now wake up. The 2023 Assembly elections is a do or die battle for constitution and democracy, and it is high time that everyone unites and safeguard the Constitution of the country, which will strengthen the leadership of Siddaramaiah even further," he said. Earlier, former advocate general Prof Ravivarma Kumar rued the lack of internal democracy in political parties, and opined that the Grand Old Party should rethink its stance on the EWS quota in reservation.

Without Katti, Mamani, BJP may be facing a tough challenge

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

THE recent demise of MLAs Umesh Katti (Hukkeri) and Anand Mamani (Saudatti) is expected to hamper the political prospects of the BJP in both the constituencies, as the ruling party struggles to find able replacements to continue its winning streak in the 2023 Assembly polls.

Katti and Mamani recorded comfortable victories from Hukkeri and Saudatti, respectively, in the last three elections. But whether the BJP will field members of both their families to capitalise on the sympathy factor remains to be seen, even as several leaders expect new faces to be fielded.

The brother of Umesh Katti, former MP from Chikkodi, Ramesh Katti, should be an apt replacement, but the Katti family remains undecided about its next move. "I am not keen on contesting the elections and have asked the party to field Nikhil, son of Umesh Katti instead. But the party leadership wants me to contest as Nikhil is still young. I am prepared to make way for someone else as well, if the party is interested," said Ramesh. He added that he was prepared to enter the fray as a BJP candidate if the party leadership insisted and felt he was the right candidate for the party to retain the Hukkeri seat.

According to sources, the BJP is keen to retain Hukkeri from where Umesh Katti has won eight of the last nine Assembly elections. He won four times, starting from 1985 to 1999, on a Janata Dal ticket, but then lost in 2004 as a Congress candidate, and then went on to win the last three elections on a BJP ticket. In the next few weeks, a consensus BJP candidate for Hukkeri is likely to emerge, sources added.

Former minister A B Patil of the Congress, an aspirant for the Congress ticket from Belagavi North, is now keen to contest from his home constituency of Hukkeri, after the death of Umesh Katti. An interesting clash is possible in Hukkeri between the BJP and Congress, if the Kattis and Patils enter the fray. The BJP is in a dilemma on the selection of a consensus candidate in Saudatti, another party bastion where Anand Mamani had won the last three elections.

Unlike Hukkeri, the party lacked a potential replacement for Mamani here. His wife, Ratna, is not an active politician and their children are still very young to enter electoral politics. A section of the party leadership wants a young face to replace Mamani, even as attempts may be made by the party to capitalise on the sympathy factor, sources say.

KCR slams BJP for its 'perverse political antics'

Says saffron party tried luring his daughter; Rules out early polls to Telangana Assembly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

RULING out early polls, Chief Minister and TRS president K Chandrashekar Rao on Tuesday declared war against what he called the "perverse political antics' of the BJP.

Addressing an extended meeting of TRS leaders here, he revealed that some BJP leaders had even contacted his daughter K Kavitha to rope her into the saffron fold. "What could be more outrageous than this?" he reportedly wondered at the meeting.

Party sources informed The New Indian Express that KCR anticipates more ED or I-T raids against TRS MLAs in the future.

The main purpose of the meeting, it appears, is to apprise the party leaders of the developing situation vis-a-vis the BJP and prepare them for the big fight ahead.

Sources said the TRS chief, referring to the ongoing probe into the alleged TRS MLAs' poaching case, indicated that more number of suspects could be arrested soon.

Elaborating further, he is learnt to have informed them of the BJP's attempt to topple even the YSRC government in the neighbouring Andhra Pradesh.

To instill confidence among his colleagues, he seems to have asserted that state law enforcement agencies would "do their duty" to thwart any such illegal activities in the State.

Putting to rest speculation of early polls — as the meeting comes in the wake of the recent Munugode bypoll — KCR made it abundantly clear that Assembly elections would be conducted as per schedule and reiterated his assurance that no sitting legislator would be denied party ticket.

The meeting unanimously resolved to fight against 'the undemocratic politics' of the BJP" — after KCR called upon them to combat the saffron party in all the assembly segments.

"All the leaders should stand like KCR and fight against the BJP,'" Rao reportedly told the party leaders. He is also said to have directed them to stage protests whenever I-T and ED raids take place against TRS leaders.

"We have to send a message across the country that the TRS is ready to unleash a Dharma Yuddham (righteous war). We have to thwart the BJP's plans," Rao was quoted as saying by party leaders.

"We did not commit a mistake and we will not be cowed down by the threats of BJP. Telangana should be in the forefront to protect democracy and launch a fight against the perverse politics of the BJP. We have to put an end to the BJP's wicked politics," Rao reportedly said.

'Indian edu system not given its due'

"INDIAN education system, which is being acknowledged worldwide for producing the best engineers, doctors and chartered accountants among others is not being given its due by Kuwait. Ministry of External Affairs needs to take up the issue," he said.

The central government should make Kuwait understand that any full-time engineering degree awarded by colleges/universities approved by AICTE, IITs and NITs do not require NBA certification. NBA should be made mandatory only for deemed universities in India to ensure that the education curriculum is at par with the norms of AICTE approved colleges/universities.

Expressing concern, Mohandas Kamath, another engineer working in Kuwait, said, "The future of 12,000 Indian engineers and their families hangs in balance."

The NBA was established by AICTE in 1994 to assess the qualitative competence of courses offered by educational institutions from diploma level to post-graduate level in engineering and technology, management, pharmacy, architecture and related disciplines.

SAVING MOTHER EARTH FROM THE WORLD'S POPULATION EXPLOSION

The UN called it a 'remarkable milestone' when the world population raced past the 800-crore mark. Probably not as remarkable as the astounding feats that await planet Earth: it is projected to surpass 900 crore by 2037 and 1,000 crore by 2058, according to UN estimates. Amid the crises mounted by depleting food, drinking water, fuel and other resources, nobody wants to celebrate these records. These milestones are a stark reminder of the struggles ahead for the new generation on the planet. Every newborn adds to the crowded planet, straining already-stretched resources and efforts to trim down poverty and inequality.

An immediate worry for us is that India is set to overtake China as the world's most heavily populated country by 2030. When the global population goes past the 850-crore figure by 2030, one in every three people will live in India or China. India's population will rise comfortably above the 151-crore mark by 2030 while China hopes to cut the size marginally to 141.6 crore, creating a bigger gap. Thanks to better education and increased use of contraceptives, India's total fertility rate, which denotes children per woman, has fallen to 2 during 2019–2021, from 3.4 in 1992–93. Let's hope the slowdown will gain momentum going forward.

While an all-around improvement in public health has lowered the risk of death and increased life expectancy, the growing disparity between the haves and the have-nots has created quite a hurdle for humanity. On the flip side, the climate crisis, pollution, poverty and pandemics have made life difficult for people, especially the underprivileged. The UN secretary-general's statement that unless we bridge the yawning chasm, we are setting ourselves up for a world filled with mistrust, crisis and conflict should act as an eye-opener. For instance, the demographic window of opportunity for India, with one of the youngest populations in the world, needs careful political calibration. There is always a risk of the demographic dividend becoming a political catastrophe when unemployment and income disparity unfailingly stifle their dreams. One needs to be vigilant about religious groups and sects exhorting their followers to breed and proliferate like stars in the sky or grains of sand along the seashore. We should individually and collectively shoulder the responsibility to protect the planet and its people from falling prey to inequity.

NODAL BODY NEEDED TO HASTEN SHIFT TO EV

The forecast for India in the electric vehicles (EV) sector appears encouraging to cut down air pollution significantly. But a lot more needs to be done. At present, the air pollution levels in India are far from safe. The finger of blame points to the transport sector. According to various studies, India's transport sector contributes about 25% of the total emissions, with road transport contributing three-quarters of the transport emissions. This amounts to 15% of the carbon dioxide emissions. Passenger vehicles are the biggest villains, accounting for 45% of CO_2 emissions. This projects a scarier scenario by 2050 when greenhouse gas (GHG) emission is expected to be 90% higher than that in 2020.

Studies have revealed that vehicular emission in India contributes up to 30% of particulate matter with a diameter smaller than 2.5 microns (or PM2.5)—which is considered very harmful for respiratory functions as these remain suspended in the air for long periods and are easily deposited in the lungs. It is estimated that vehicles in India annually spew a total of 29 crore kg of PM2.5 into the air. The concerns have not gone unnoticed. The focus has now shifted to electric vehicles and the zero-emission goal. Various studies have forecast a massive boom for the EV industry in India, pointing to a 30–80% rise in the sector's compound annual growth rate (CAGR) by 2027. This is being linked to the increasing awareness about EV benefits raised by the National Electric Mobility Mission Plan and Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of Hybrid & Electric Vehicles, the second phase of the latter attracting a budget outlay of ₹111.36 crore for 2022–23.

The healthy forecasts for the EV industry in India are based on observed trends in the growth rate in demand for EVs. But the on-ground problems the EV industry faces are yet to be addressed—mainly, high vehicle costs and accessibility to EV battery charging stations. Through the Ministry of Power, the Union government has recognised the Bureau of Energy Efficiency as the chief nodal agency to implement the EV battery charging infrastructure. It needs a single regulatory authority exclusively dealing with the gamut of EV operations, from battery charging infrastructure to ushering in competitive pricing of vehicles and aggressively spreading awareness about the benefits. This would help reach the zero-emission goals faster.

QUICK TAKE

BRANDING INDIAN FASHION

The Centre asks design institutes for an integrated approach to equip students to globalise Indian fashion. For the first time, fashion as a potential export leader is under close scrutiny. India is nowhere in global branded fashion. But its fashion hype is felt all across. Indian ethnic designs and materials are the spearheads. The government must help designers build and sustain brands and make India the global hub on the strength of cheaper skilled workers, bountiful supply chains, and an unbelievably wide range of, and monopoly in, garment designs. The batik cravat is world chic, but it's not yet branded.

Lachit Barphukan, often called the Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj of Northeast India, figures rarely in our public discourse, not even while discussing our national heroes

LACHIT BARPHUKAN, THE FORGOTTEN AHOM HERO

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Some three decades ago, while travelling in Nagaland, a very enthusiastic journalist friend of mine, while conversing with the local Gaonbura (village headman), was repeatedly making an appeal to the villagers to join the mainstream. Having heard the appeal for the fourth time in just half an hour, the village chieftain stopped him and tersely said, "What mainstream are you talking about again and again? Who told you that only you are the mainstream and we are away from that? Remember, all mainstreams originate in hills and mountains. We are the mountain people, we are the mainstream."

A billboard at the Rajiv Chowk Metro Station in Delhi reminded me of this incident. The billboard I saw was about the Assam government celebrating the 400th birth anniversary of Lachit Barphukan, an iconic figure in the history of Assam and the Northeast, born on November 24, 1622. Sadly, Lachit, often called the Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj of Northeast India, figures rarely in our public discourse—not even while discussing our national heroes who had fought valiantly against invaders.

Barphukan, similar to a 'Senapati' or 'Field Marshal', was a title bestowed by the Kings of Ahom in their courts. A contemporary of Shivaji Maharaj, Lachit rose to become a 'Barphukan' in the court of King Chakradhwaj Singha. The story of Lachit, apart from being one of valour, is a journey of a bright boy rising to the top of the Ahomiya Court and embodying superior administrative and warfare capabilities.

History tells us that Aurangzeb ordered Mir Jumla to take control of Bengal and then attack Assam. Mir attacked Guwahati and took control. The loss of Guwahati prompted the Ahoms to agree to a tactical surrender and sign a treaty with the Mughals, defining the boundaries of both dynasties. Fauzdar Rashid Khan was asked to take control of Guwahati. In the meantime, Chakradhwaj Singha became king of Ahom. Aurangzeb sent a message from Delhi asking him to pay the decided taxes and also ordered him to accept and use Islamic royal robes.

However, the self-respecting Ahom king refused to obey the order. Instead, he readied his army to fight against the Mughals and drive them out of Guwahati. He appointed Lachit Barphukan as the commander-in-chief of the army and asked him to march to Guwahati.

Aurangzeb was furious and he ordered Ram Singh, son of the Amber king Mirza Raja Jai Singh, to take Guwahati. Rashid Khan accompanied Ram Singh. The army that the latter brought with him consisted of 30,000 infantry, 18,000 cavalries, 15,000 archers, and a fleet of 40 ships.

As the Mughals advanced, Lachit assigned territories to the top officers of his army. Barphukan, who knew the war techniques of the Mughals, built huge ramparts around Saraighat. These ramparts had to be crossed by the Mughals in order to reach Guwahati. The Ahom army built these ramparts day and night, but Lachit found that his maternal uncle was too lazy to complete the job. He found his uncle asleep when the war required sleepless labour. The battle of Saraighat was about the pride of the Ahom. Aurangzeb used all his strength to win Guwahati and expand his empire. However, Lachit fought intelligently and proved to be smarter than him.

Eventually, Aurangzeb's army was not able to withstand the Ahoms and it was crushed from all sides. Ram Singh fled, and many officials and thousands of soldiers of the Mughal army were killed. The Battle of Saraighat was the Mughals' last major attempt to expand their empire into Assam. Just like Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, our great commander-in-chief Lachit Barphukan broke Aurangzeb's pride.

The Battle of Plassey, The Battle of Haldighati and the Battles of Panipat have, for long, had a place of prominence in India's medieval history. Sadly, The Battle of Saraighat remained ignored. How can historians undermine the importance of the fact that a Mughal flotilla of 40 ships coming up the river Brahmaputra with a 63,000-strong army was defeated by Lachit Barphukan and the Ahom Army?

Remember, after this devastating defeat, the Mughals stopped their efforts to invade Assam for good. Lachit Barphukan succumbed to an illness after the war on April 25, 1672. The Mughals were at the height of their power but failed to conquer Assam and the Northeast and consolidate their rule. Seventeen attempts were made by the Mughals to conquer Assam but they failed every time. Assam could keep the invaders at bay thanks to brave marshals like Veer Lachit Barphukan.

The Three Hundred and Thirty First Report of the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Education specifically recommends inclusion of content on unsung heroes so as to make their stories instill righteousness and patriotism in the minds of students.

One must not forget that Lachit was not just a good warrior. He was a true leader. He displayed many remarkable leadership qualities. Democratic at heart, he used to periodically invite suggestions and feedback. From inspiring men by leading from the front and ensuring collective decision-making during war and peace to using indigenous guerilla tactics and mobilising locals, his qualities made him a true field marshal.

The Battle of Saraighat and the life and times of Lachit Barphukan—beyond valour, like good governance and leadership—are also important for their context and place in history. He defeated the Islamic invaders with sinister motives and nipped their Eastward expansion in the bud. In doing so, he prevented the pillage of an entire culture—what we refer to as pristine and diverse today.

When on the battlefield of Saraighat, Lachit Barphukan asserted: "Dexotkoi Momai Dangor Nohoi" (My uncle is not greater than my motherland) and went on to punish his uncle for compromising the defence. In doing so, he has sown the seeds of the 'Nation first' philosophy and not 'Family first' and set an example.

As we celebrate 400 years of this great son of soil, let us lay our collective emphasis on correcting the literature and recreating narratives so as to not forget these 'Barphukans'—ever again.

THE YOUTH ELIXIR FOR COMPANIES

R GOPALAKRISHNAN

Author and business commentator

BUILDING BUSINESSES

Transformation on a continual basis is essential for corporate neoteny, namely, keeping the company youthful and agile. What does history and anthropology tell us about long-life companies? Is there an equivalent of ayurveda or ikigai for companies, representing the secret sauce for a long-life company?

I have had the fortune of working with two companies, both over 100 years old and growing stronger: Unilever and Tata. Over the last five decades of close association with these exceptional companies, I have gathered some experiences and observations on what keeps them youthful. Their attitude and practices are based on neoteny. I have also been inspired by several well-researched and relevant books, which have researched different kinds of companies, from family-managed Japanese companies to American public companies. The observations and lessons alluded to in these books converge to a set of common principles. I derive comfort from the fact that the lessons I have drawn from my experiences resonate with these principles.

Getting philosophical for just a moment, Vedanta teaches human beings three principles for a fulfilling life: Know Yourself—Protect Nature—Serve Others. This 'vedantic' formula also works for companies.

A corporation does not work or exist in isolation. It is part of an ecosystem. Its very existence and its fate are linked with that of its stakeholders. It has a much larger role to play for the community than commonly understood and practiced. Lots of research, case studies and consulting assignments on corporate success or failure have focused on what the organisation does, rather than what the organisation is part of.

Applying the nature principle, an organisation must be viewed as part of a bigger ecosystem in line with the very fundamental law of nature which states that survival of a species depends on having a mutually rewarding relationship with its environment. Applying the 212 principle, where water at 211 degrees is still water, but one degree more converts it into steam, employees within organisations need to have just that little extra stretch in their efforts to take the organisation to its true potential.

Creating a purpose and living it consistently through actions and behaviours ensures that over time, it gets deeply ingrained and becomes a part of life for all stakeholders, especially employees. The purpose does not change over long periods of time, although the expression of the purpose may be modernised periodically. In the purpose statement of Tata, for example, four strands stand out: (i) Improving the quality of lives of communities (ii) Leadership in sectors of national economic significance (iii) Returning to society what is earned (iv) Formalising high standards of behaviour.

Tata was a textile company in the beginning, whereas these days, Tata is viewed as a software and digital technology company. The metamorphosis has been continual over a century. The Tata group's growth over the years is a fitting tribute to the robust business model that it adopts, and which has found favour with all the stakeholders. It creates, develops, and nurtures businesses of national significance. It ensures that any business that it enters will impact all the stakeholders positively, most importantly, society at large, and contribute to nation-building. It believes in value-creation in a manner whereby short-term gains can and are often sacrificed if they conflict with the value-system that defines the group. Creating and living a holistic purpose also instils a focus that encourages employees to shun short-term opportunistic behaviour.

A corporation is part of an ecosystem. Its very existence and its fate are linked with that of its stakeholders. It has a much larger role to play for the community

As opposed to a classical organisational structure, derived from the principles of physics, Tata derives inspiration from the principles of botany to make its ecosystem more permeable. Instead of rigid boundaries, this permeability allows easy exchange of views and ideas, leading to a collaborative effort. Apart from some boundary conditions that are central to the group purpose, this structure gives full autonomy to the group companies to experiment and innovate. Tata is a rare case of the holding company being private, while the operating companies are public. Such a species is rare in the world!

The group has always been focused on living in harmony with nature. For instance, Tata Power has an aggressive target to have a substantial share of power coming from renewable sources. Dedicated sustainability cells in the company continually monitor and reduce the negative impact of company activities on people and the environment. In fact, many companies have proactively started generating meaningful products from effluents.

The carbon footprint of the 50 largest Tata companies has been estimated and their carbon management strategy articulated. The remaining smaller Tata companies are being mapped. Early estimates indicate that specific emissions can be brought down by 10–15% if Tata companies adopt abatement measures, instead of going down the business-as-usual growth path. Thus, while the journey began with the intention of doing the right thing as a socially responsible corporate house, it may well turn out that this has been the right thing to do from a business perspective as well. Just like humans need to be careful about their health, what they eat and how much they exercise, a healthy dose of conservatism brings in longevity for companies.

In the words of Arie de Geus, author of The Living Company, "Such companies are frugal and do not risk their capital gratuitously. They understand the meaning of money in an old-fashioned way and know the usefulness of spare cash in the kitty." Tata surely subscribes to this view and is not perceived as one of those swashbuckling and aggressive corporations that wants to grow at any cost.

In this column, we reviewed long-life companies from an anthropological perspective. In the next column, I propose to review the same subject from an immunological perspective.

Neena Gopal's column, Rajiv's assassins: 'Innocent' Tigers get a free pass (Nov 15), applied balm to every heart broken by the killers' release. This must shake the conscience of the country, but hasn't. People should have come onto the streets, but haven't. As the columnist mentions, The LTTE had a long history of biting the hands that fed them. It is clear that no one is bothered about the release of these killers. We await another repeat of 21.05.1991 someday, for old habits die hard.

An eerie night

Neena Gopal's column is a chilling revelation of an Indian PM's gory fate that could have been avoided by being alert. The release of the assassins really smells of a deep-rooted conspiracy. I still wish the truth will be brought out soon. Because the country can't afford to bear anything like this again.

Forced conversions

Apropos of Religious conversion by force dangerous, says SC (Nov 15). It is not possible to change someone's faith by force. And what will really be achieved? He/she may still deeply believe in their original religion. God wanted diversity. As long as one is not harming others, they should be able to practice their religion.

Apropos of the quick take, Job quotas for third gender (Nov 15). I feel happy to hear that at last, one job has been created for the third gender in Maharashtra. We have to respect them as humans. They are vulnerable. Although this change makes me happy, we have a long way to go.

Apropos of Horror on steroid as man kills live-in partner, chops body into 35 pieces (Nov 15). Mercilessly killing one's own partner was wrong. Rest in peace, Shraddha

I vehemently denounce Aaftab for murdering Shraddha and dismembering her body into 35 parts over a basic problem that might have been resolved through simple communication. He must be detained and severely punished. Only then may the innocent woman's soul rest in peace.

3D habitats for 22K soldiers ready in Eastern Ladakh

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE Indian Army has constructed habitats of around 22,000 troops in Eastern Ladakh. The habitats will cater to requirements of troops that have been posted on the frontline in the wake of May 2020 standoff with Chinese PLA.

Sources in Defence Established said on Tuesday that these habitats are relocatable and can be shifted in 2-7 days. They can be raised in-situ using the 3D printing technology and this will bring down the cost of construction, which is at par with the conventional construction, by 30 per cent in future. Work on important permanent defences has also used this modern technology and the sources confirmed that they are sturdy enough to take direct hits from T-90 tanks from a distance of 100 meters. These were initially constructed on the Western side and are now being done along the Northern Borders with China.

The habitats were prepared keeping the high altitude and the climatic conditions such as extreme cold in mind. "The habitat is temperature-controlled with all the modern amenities and uses renewable energy like the solar panels and fuel cells," said a defence source.

> The habitat built in Eastern Ladakh is temperature-controlled with all the modern amenities and uses renewable energy like the solar panels and fuel cells
>
> Defence source

On being asked about the idea behind creation of relocatable habitats, a senior defence official said that the requirement arose after the Galwan Valley violent face-off in June 2020. It is based on the changing situation. These shelters have been established at high altitudes of 15,000, 16,000 and 18,000 feet.

Apart from habitat, the Army has also built 450 technical shelters to house armoured vehicles and gun systems, so that the efficiency of the vehicles and weaponry systems could not be degraded due to terrain or temperature.

Mobility has been focused upon along the northern border in a big way with alternate routes coming up for Leh both from Manali, Himachal Pradesh, and from the Kargil, Kashmir, sides. He said that a road will provide alternate connectivity to Western Ladakh and the Zanskar Valley directly from the Manali axis. It is a 298-km NHDL specification road with 65 per cent progress and expected to be completed by 2026.

"The road also includes a 4.1 km twin tube Shinkun La tunnel for providing all weather connectivity, which is likely to be approved by the defence ministry," the defence source said.

World population clocks 8-billion mark

India may surpass China in 2023 as the world's most populous country; population of 61 countries likely to decrease

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@New Delhi

NOVEMBER 15, 2022 will be historic as it saw global population reaching 8 billion mark, with prediction being made that India may surpass China during 2023 as the world's most populous country. The United Nations' latest report titled 'UN World Population Prospect 2022", released on November 14 coinciding with the World Population Day, has made various projections about the population of the world. It has gone with further projections on population stating that the global population could grow to around 8.5 billion by 2030, 9.7 billion by 2050 and 10.4 billion by 2100.

The report also claims that China and India with more than 1.4 billion each, accounted for larger parts of the global population in 2022. It also says India will have a population of 1.66 billions in 2050, going ahead of China's 1.37 billion around that time. The report further projected that India will surpass China by 2023 as the world's most populous country while 8 countries, namely India, Nigeria, Ethiopia, Egypt, Congo, the United Republic of Tanzania, Pakistan and the Philippines will have more than half of the projected increase in global population by 2050.

The report has further stated that populations of 61 countries or areas are projected to decrease by one per cent or more between 2022 and 2050, owing to sustained low levels of fertility and, in some cases, elevated rates of emigration. But world's46 least developed countries are among the world's fastest growing.

On projections made about India, the Population Foundation of India (PFI) said the milestone should not be seen as a problem but as an opportunity for India to plan better and provide a healthy and happy life for people across the world. "We must celebrate the day the world population reaches eight billion," it had earlier said.

According to the United Nations' World Population Prospects-2022, released on July 11 (World Population Day), the global population was projected to reach eight billion on November 15. The report also stated that the global population is growing at its slowest rate since 1950, having fallen under one per cent in 2020.

"Given the fact that India is projected to become the most populous country in the world in 2023, some sections have been expressing fear that a high population would be a problem for governance. "However, this milestone should be seen as an opportunity to plan better and provide a healthy and happy life for all eight billion of us," the PFI said.

PFI executive director Poonam Muttreja said, "We know that population growth is stabilising across the world. While it took 12 years for the world population to grow from seven to eight billion, it will take approximately 15 years, until 2037, to reach nine billion, suggesting that population growth is slowing down."

Billions of men & women

Owing to advancements in health services, world population has increased exponentially in recent years, clocking 8 billion mark on Tuesday. Here is a look at key features of this growth

8 billion people milestone has long-term significance for both rich and poor countries

India projected to become the world's most populous country by 2023, surpassing China

World population could grow to around 8.5 bn in 2030.

World population to reach 9.7 bn in 2050

World population to reach a peak of around 10.4 billion during 2080s and continue until 2100

The world grew from 7 billion to 8 billion just since 2010, reflecting advancements in health

The global population is growing at its slowest rate since 1950 with under 1% growth in 2020

It took hundreds of thousands of years for the world's population to reach 1 billion

Another key point in the UN's population report, updated in its November brief, is the gender divide: Today there are just slightly more men than women, but it will even out by 2050.

SC reminds public servants of rule against making insulting remarks

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday remarked that it is an unwritten rule for persons holding public offices to impose self-restriction and not blabber things which are disparaging and insulting to other countrymen. Stressing on the existence of inherent constitutional restriction, the five-judge bench of Justices S Abdul Nazeer, BR Gavai, A S Bopanna, V Ramasubramanian and BV Nagarathna said that the practice of abstaining from making derogatory remarks must be inculcated in our political society and our civic life.

"As far as public functionaries are concerned, irrespective of what Article 19(2) may say, is there no constitutional culture in our country where there is an inherent restriction or limitation which is imposed by persons holding responsible posts? It is inherent and there is no need for the court to give code of conduct on that. For any person holding public office or as public servant, there is an unwritten rule and it is part of constitutional culture that we impose a self-restriction when we hold offices of responsibilities and not blabber things which are very disparaging or insulting to other countrymen. There is something like constitutional restriction which is inherent and this must be inculcated in our political society," Justice BV Nagarathna remarked.

The SC also said that the reason for absence of legislation to restrict public servants was because of the existence of self imposed restrictions but now an impression was being given that the same were slowly relaxing as a result of which people holding public offices were making offending speeches.

Cong raps KPCC chief on 'linking Nehru to fascism'

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

THE central leadership of Congress swung into damage control mode after Kerala Congress Chief K Sudhakaran stoked controversy by his 'unsavoury remarks on India's first Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. Miffed by Sudhakaran's remarks that Nehru was willing to "compromise with communal fascism" to accommodate RSS leader Syama Prasad Mukherjee in his cabinet, the top leadership asked the Congress Chief' to refrain from making controversial statements.

Sudhakaran later retracted his remarks, after apparent intervention from the top leadership.

On Monday, while speaking on the occasion of Nehru's birth anniversary, Kerala Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president and Lok Sabha member K Sudhakaran said, "Nehru is the symbol of the democratic consciousness that made BR Ambedkar the law minister. He was magnanimous enough to make RSS leader Syama Prasad Mukherjee a minister in his own cabinet. He has large-heartedness to even compromise with communal fascism for democracy," said the senior Congress leader.

Speaking to this newspaper, AICC general secretary in charge of Kerala, Tariq Anwar said that he advised Sudhakaran to refrain from making any controversial statements while speaking to the media. The central leadership stepped in after national media reported on it. Last week Sudhakaran ran into another controversy saying that Congress supported RSS shakhas from CPI (M) attacks.

"I spoke to him after reading press clips on his statements.. I cautioned him to avoid controversial comments to the media. He has now clarified that it was a slip of tongue. I don't think his intention was to defame Nehru. He may have used the wrong word. I think he wanted to say that Nehru has accommodated even Syama Prasad Mukherjee in his cabinet as he is a large- hearted person," said Anwar.

UGC asks univs to implement new PhD regime

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

THE University Grants Commission on Tuesday asked vice-chancellors and college principals to initiate necessary steps to implement the revised minimum standard and procedure for the award of PhD. In the letter to higher educational institutions (HEIs), the UGC said that the new regulations are framed "to encourage research scholars to become well-trained researchers and inquisitive explorers."

"All HEIs are requested to initiate necessary steps to implement the new regulations for the award of PhD," the letter said.

The UGC replaced its rules notified in 2016 and brought the UGC (Minimum Standards and Procedures for Award of PhD Degree) Regulations, 2022. The revised guidelines have changed the eligibility, admission and evaluation process. It has also done away with the mandatory requirement of publishing research papers in refereed journals.

The UGC notified the new regulations on November 7. As per the new regulations, students who have completed a four-year undergraduate course will also be eligible for direct admission to a doctorate programme.

The new rule said a candidate should have a minimum of 75 per cent marks in "aggregate or its equivalent grade on a point scale wherever the grading system is followed", and in case the candidate does not have 75 per cent marks in a four-year undergraduate program, they have to pursue a one-year master's programme and score at least 55 per cent.

PhD regulations of 2016 said that PhD scholars "must publish at least one (1) research paper in a refereed journal and make two paper presentations in conferences/seminars before the submission of the dissertation/thesis for adjudication."

UGC chairperson Professor M. Jagadesh Kumar said that publishing research papers in peer-reviewed journals might not be mandatory anymore, but it does not mean PhD scholars should stop doing that. "Focussing on high-quality research will lead to publications in good journals, even if it is not mandatory. It will add value when they apply for employment or post-doctoral opportunities," he said.

The regulations are applicable with immediate effect from the date of notification. Any PhD registered after 1 July 2009 shall be governed by the rules of 2009 or 2016, the notification said.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

The University Grants Commission (UGC) has written to higher educational institutions (HEIs) to take steps to engage professionals and industry experts as 'professors of practice' in their respective institutes.

In a letter to the vice-chancellors, directors and principals of all universities and institutions, the UGC said, "One of the recommendations of National Education Policy 2020 is to impart holistic and multidisciplinary education in higher educational institutions."

In August, the UGC had approved the draft guidelines for engaging 'professors of practice' in universities and colleges.

Whiff of 'Mini Op Lotus' in MP ahead of Rahul's yatra

On the other hand, Cong claims BJP MLAs in touch to shift the party

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

POLITICAL circles in Madhya Pradesh are abuzz with speculations that the BJP is planning a 'mini Operation Lotus' against the Congress before or during Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra in the state.

According to sources, 8-10 Congress MLAs, including four Brahmin politicians from Bundelkhand and Malwa, and a veteran from central MP, are in touch with the BJP. While one of them comes from a family with ties to the BJP, another is a businessman-turned-politician who was earlier a BJP MLA. Sources say that they are mulling a switch as they fear that they could be among the 25-30 Congress MLAs who may be denied tickets in the Assembly polls next year due to lack of performance and declining popularity. As per sources, some Congress MLAs are in touch with BJP through mining baron-turned-MLA Sanjay Pathak, who was earlier in the Congress.

While maintaining that many Congress MLAs are in touch with BJP, state's Urban Development Minister Bhupendra Singh played down speculations that the party is planning to poach Congress leaders during Rahul's Yatra in MP. On the other hand, sources in Congress say that over 20 BJP MLAs, who fear being sidelined by the saffron party in the next polls, are planning an exit. Most of them are loyalists of Jyotiraditya Scindia who fear getting dropped by BJP, besides a few from Mahakoshal, who have been close to Kamal Nath for years.

Many BJP MLAs, who are afraid of not being fielded in Assembly polls, are in touch with us. But we will give priority to our organisation

Kamal Nath, MP Congress president

As per a BJP leader, the party may not plan any defection from the Congress during the Yatra as it may trigger a retaliatory move with the help of some disgruntled MLAs within the party. State Congress president Kamal Nath also broached the issue on Monday, saying, "Many BJP MLAs, who are afraid of not being fielded in Assembly polls, are in touch with us. But we will give priority to our organisation."

Congress MLA from Bhitarwar (Gwalior) Lakhan Singh Yadav and Leader of Opposition Dr Govind Singh had earlier made similar statements.

Responding to Nath's remarks, state's Home Minister Narottam Mishra on Tuesday said, "Whenever he (Nath) has claimed that BJP MLAs are in touch with the Congress, his own party has disintegrated. He is wrong if he thinks that BJP will not give him a strong reply if he attempts any misadventure." the party has dropped from the Bayad constituency, are protesting at the BJP headquarters Kamalam. Similar is the case with the Patan constituency. The chaos within the party started as soon as the first and second lists of candidates were announced.

BHANUPRATAPUR

C'garh bypolls: 'Agnipariksha' for BJP leaders

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE opposition BJP in Chhattisgarh will be facing a litmus test in the upcoming Bhanupratapur Assembly by-polls after the party organisation had undertaken major changes in the state leadership.

The saffron party has begun the exercise of infusing a revamp in the organisation from early August this year when the state tribal president Vishnu Deo Sai was replaced by OBC face with strong RSS background and an MP from Bilaspur Arun Sao. Soon another OBC leader Narayan Chandel took charge as the leader of opposition in place of Dharamlal Kaushik.

The changes didn't end here. The state in charge D Purandeshwari, who travelled extensively from Sarguja in the north to Bastar in south to give a fillip to the party's political fortune, was replaced by the party strategist Om Mathur. The BJP has also brought in its Northeast organisation in-charge secretary Ajay Jamwal on election front in the state. The BJP after shortlisting five names has on Tuesday declared Bhramanand Netam as ST reserved seat.

Stop interfering in Sikh affairs, SGPC tells RSS and BJP

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC) has asked the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) and the BJP to refrain from interfering in Sikh affairs.

SGPC general secretary Gurcharan Singh Grewal on Tuesday, the foundation day of the organisation, wrote a letter to RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat, saying, "The representative body of Sikhs came into existence after great sacrifices for the country Independence. This organisation has completed its 102-year glorious journey..." The letter added, "During this century-long history, the SGPC has never interfered in the affairs of any religion/belief and has worked for the welfare of all. But sadly, the Bharatiya Janata Party-led government of India, and especially the BJP leaders, have started direct interference in the affairs of the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee."

It also mentioned that the Union government as well as the Haryana government, and BJP leaders interfered with the panthic traditions and the Sikh organization on November 9 on the occasion of the annual election of office bearers of SGPC.

The letter says

During this century-long history, the SGPC has never interfered in the affairs of any religion/belief and has worked for the welfare of all. But sadly, the Bharatiya Janata Party-led government of India, and especially the BJP leaders, have started direct interference in the affairs of the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee

"If it is happening without your knowledge, then you should immediately intervene and if it is with your knowledge, then it is the right time for your organisation to think upon your ideological approach as this is creating a rift in the religious relations in this multi-cultural and multi-religious society, which I fear will deepen in future. This phenomenon will create instability in the minds of Sikhs which is not good for the country," the letter said.

BJP fields Guj riots convict's daughter

The BJP is in the eye of a storm by fielding Naroda Patiya convict daughter Payal Kukrani from Naroda seat of Ahmedabad for the upcoming Assembly elections and CK Raulji who referred to the convicts of Bilkis Bano case as 'Sanskari Brahmins'. Payal is the daughter of Manoj Kukrani who is one of the 16 convicts in the Naroda Patiya riots case in which 97 Muslims were killed. She also among the youngest candidates fielded by the ruling party this time. In another controversy, BJP also gave a ticket to Chandrasinh Raulji Known as CK Raulji, from the Godhra constituency. Raulji had referred to the convicts in the Bilkis Bano case as "Sanskari Brahmins".

Ravindra Jadeja's wife, sister face off in polls

Cricketer Ravindra Jadeja's hands are full as his wife Rivaba Jadeja and his sister Naynaba Jadeja are fighting in the upcoming Gujarat elections from the same seat, Jamnaga North. While the Bharatiya Janata Party has fielded Rivaba Jadeja, Nayanaba Jadeja is campaigning for Congress but has not received a ticket yet. "It is her first time as an MLA candidate and she will learn a lot. I hope she will progress in this. She is of helping nature and has always wanted to help people and hence joined politics. She wants to follow the path of PM Modi to work for the people," the cricketer said.

If BJP wins, Bhupendra Patel will be CM: Shah

Union Home Minister Amit Shah while speaking to a news channel said that Bhupendra Patel will remain the state's chief minister if the party wins a majority in next month's assembly elections 2022 in Gujarat. Shah's statement makes it clear that Patel is the BJP's chief ministerial candidate and the party is eyeing PM Narendra Modi and Shah's seventh consecutive power sweep in the home state. Shah said, "We do not play politics to break records, we have always lived up to the expectations of the people of Gujarat. Gujarat has never accepted the concept of any third party."

Nitish's another minister slams scheme, officers

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

NEARLY after one-and-a-half months of RJD leader Sudhakar Singh resigning from his ministerial post in view of controversy over his open criticism of the grand alliance government, Bihar Panchayati Raj minister and senior Congress leader Murari Gautam alleged that 'Nal-Jal Yojana' (tap water to each household) had failed in the state due to "less educated ward members and officers' slackness".

'Nal-Jal Yojna' is an ambitious project of Chief Minister Nitish Kumar. Pointing out the shortcomings in the implementation of 'Nal-Jal Yojana' in the state, Gautam said that the situation was not different in the previous government either.

"Ever since I have become a Panchayati Raj minister, I am reviewing the situation. Fund is being allotted separately for the maintenance purpose under the scheme and if the work is not being done, officers are responsible for it," the minister said.

He said that "less educated" ward members were also not responsible for it as they would not be able to monitor implementation of the schemes under 'Nal-Jal Yojana' effectively. Leader of Opposition in Bihar Legislative Council and former Panchayati Raj Minister Samrat Choudhary hits back at Gautam, calling his statement highly unfortunate. "When we were in the government, we tried to strengthen Panchayati Raj as ward members were given full charge of the Yojana'. Former NDA government had even started releasing funds for the maintenance of the scheme," he remarked.

He said that as a minister, he had tried to ensure tap water reaching to each household but the present minister (Gautam) was not happy about it and instead was 'insulting' 1.14 lakh people's representatives of Panchayati Raj. Earlier, Bihar BJP president had held CM Nitish Kumar responsible for irregularities in 'Nal-Jal Yojana'.

Meanwhile, JD (U) parliamentary board chairman Upendra Kushwaha who had caused embarrassment to Nitish government by claiming that prohibition was not successful in the state, extended support to Gautam.

Paharis to get reservation, but no cut in quota of Gujjars, Bakerwals: Sinha

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

AMID the ongoing 500-km-long foot march by Gujjar and Bakerwals in Jammu and Kashmir to oppose inclusion of Paharis or other elite castes in the ST reservation status, J&K Lt Governor Manoj Sinha on Tuesday said Pahari community would get reservation but there would be no cut or decrease in quota of Gujjars and Bakerwals.

"Home Minister Amit Shah during his recent address to public rallies in Rajouri and Baramulla had made it clear that Paharis will get reservation in ST category soon but there will be no cut in reservation quota of Gujjars and Bakerwals," Lt Governor Sinha said, while addressing a Janjatiya Samagam on the launch of week-long festivities on Janjatiya Gaurav Divas in Jammu on Tuesday.

He said, "Paharis will also get the reservation but there would be no tampering with the reservation of Gujjar and Bakerwal community."

I urge those undertaking Padyatra (foot march) to return home. Some people with vested interest are spreading rumours on reservation. They are the same people who do not want peace and progress in the region," said Sinha.

Manoj Sinha, J&K Lt Governor

The Gujjar and Bakerwal are on a 500-km-long foot march called 'Tribals Bachao March' in J&K for protection of their identity and rights under the Scheduled Tribe status and oppose inclusion of Pahari community or any other elite castes in the ST status. The Save Tribals march is being carried out under the banner of recently formed united front — Gujjar Bakerwal Joint Action Committee (GBJAC). The foot march started from the border district of Kupwara in Kashmir on November 4. It will travel through all 20 districts of J&K and culminate in Kathua district of Jammu region.

The Gujjar and Bakerwal community enjoys 10% reservation in education and government employment in J&K. Besides, nine Assembly seats in J&K have also been reserved for the community by the Delimitation Commission.

"Through this foot march, we want to protect our identity and rights under the ST status. We are opposing the granting of ST status to the Pahari community or any upper caste of J&K," said Gujjar activist Guftar Ahmad.

He said the Pahari community is not eligible for ST status as the status is not being granted on the basis of language.

The Gujjar and Bakerwal community feels that declaring Paharis and other upper caste communities as STs would be injustice with the tribal population and it will deprive them of their rights in education and jobs.

Going digital: Tablets for tribal kids for self-learning in C'garh

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

IN remote Sarguja, north Chhattisgarh, the kids in the tribal community are usually taught the ways of life from childhood days but they often experience lack of quality learning in education.

With the school education now turning digital, the tribal students shouldn't be left out of the modern learning spectrum, as many as 410 students, from classes 4 to 10, have been provided with a customised tablet to access self-paced learning even after their school hours.

The initiative taken by Adani Foundation in Sarguja, the academicians in the region hoped the move will be a significant step towards giving the tribal students a modern learning experience with the tablets as per their grades. The customised tablet will work even without Internet connection.

"In remote locations our children are deprived of sources like coaching, tuition, online classes or expert guidance. So, such tablets will be beneficial to the students", said Brijlal Das, whose son is studying in Class 11.

The tablets are reinforced with an e-learning platform in developing and achieving higher aspirations and career paths.

Sarguja, one of the oldest districts of Chhattisgarh with predominant tribal population often faces challenges like difficult topography, poor infrastructure, underdevelopment and poverty.

"Many of the children who attend the school come from underprivileged backgrounds. With digital tools, now the students will be equipped with improved educational experience as well as ease of learning", said Priti Adani, chairperson of Adani Foundation.

"With this tablet, we will be able to understand our syllabus in a better way. Many times, some questions remain unanswered while studying at home and we have to wait till we go to school the next day. Now, we won't face such a problem," said Anishma Porte, class 10 student.

"The digital learning tool (tablets) was a surprise, seen first time by most of us. What better could we expect as a goodwill gesture on the Children's Day", said the students who received the tablets.

The students of Adani Vidya Mandir, a co-educational school affiliated with CBSE in the tribal pocket of the district, as the first-generation learners were delighted to access education via digital mode.

In a first, women officers to enter Army's Staff College

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

FOR the first time in the Indian Army's history, women officers will attend the prestigious Defence Services Staff College (DSSC). Fifteen women officers appeared for this year's examination for DSSC, out of which six have cracked the competition. Every year, 1,500-1,600 officers sit for the exam but only around 300 get selected.

It is the only course conducted by the Army for which officers have to compete and clear all six papers including tactics, law and military history. The other courses like the Higher Command, Higher Defence Management and National Defence College are based on nominations.

After completion of the DSSC course, the officers will be eligible for critical staff appointments into the higher formations of the Army and also for foreign postings.

DSSC was established in 1905 and it is merit which decides the candidature and not the gender, as the identity of the candidates is hidden from those who check the answer sheets.

The course begins at the end of June every year and goes on till May of the subsequent year. It is also attended by around 50 officers from foreign countries.

This was for the first time after the grant of the Permanent Commission to the women officers that they appeared for the exam.

It was in February 2020 that the Supreme Court directed the government to ensure permanent commission for women Short Service Commission officers.

Long power cuts, Valley braces for cold, dark winter

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

WITH the onset of winter and upper reaches of the Valley experiencing few spells of snowfall, Kashmir is bracing for cold and dark (in absence of electricity) winter this year.

The upper reaches of Kashmir, including the famous ski resort of Gulmarg, has already witnessed few spells of snow so far while the plains, including Srinagar, has also witnessed downpour in recent weeks.

The snowfall in upper reaches and rains in plains has brought down the temperature in the Valley, leading to increase in cold. People are wearing warm and woolen clothes including jackets, sweaters and pherans to keep themselves warm. The MeT has predicted another spell of snowfall and rainfall in the Valley from November 19.

"With the early cold this year, it is expected that winter this year will be very harsh and cold," said an elderly Srinagar resident Ali Mohammad.

He said in the winter, the government should provide round the clock electricity to the consumers in the Valley "but unfortunately when the electricity is needed the most, authorities resort to lengthy power cuts, thus adding to the winter woes of the people". With the increase in cold, authorities have come out with a power curtailment programme.

According to the curtailment programme, there would be a power curtailment of 4 and a half hours in 24 hours in metered areas while the non metered areas will be facing about 8 hours power cuts.

However, the residents in Srinagar and other parts of the Valley are complaining that the power development department is already resorting to lengthy and pesky power cuts and the power curtailments will further increase with the passage of time.

Expect tough message to Russia from G20

Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov greets Indonesia's President Joko Widodo as he arrives for the G20 leaders' summit in Nusa Dua, Indonesia on Tuesday | AP

Ukraine prez Zelenskyy urges leaders to isolate Kremlin diplomatically and economically

NUSA DUA (INDONESIA)

LEADERS of the world's largest economies appeared ready on Tuesday to convey a strong message from most nations condemning Russia's invasion of Ukraine, as President Joe Biden and Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy pressed the group to maintain pressure on Moscow over its nine-month war that has devastated Ukraine and roiled the global economy.

A draft declaration by leaders of the Group of 20 major economies under discussion on Tuesday echoes the condemnation of Russia's war on Ukraine by the United Nations, while acknowledging differing views among members. The careful wording of the statement reflects tensions prevailing at the gathering, which includes leaders from Russia and China, and the challenge facing the US and its allies to isolate Russian President Vladimir Putin's government as some nations seek to avoid becoming entangled in antagonisms between the big powers.

The statement seen Tuesday by AP "deplores in the strongest terms the aggression by the Russian Federation" and "demands its complete and unconditional withdrawal from the territory of Ukraine." The G20 draft statement also noted there were different views on the situation and sanctions against Russia, saying that the G20 was not the forum for resolving security issues.

Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov, who led the Russian delegation to the summit in place of Putin, denounced the Biden administration push to condemn Moscow.

"All problems are on the Ukrainian side that categorically refuses to hold any talks and comes up with conditions obviously unrealistic and inadequate to this situation," Lavrov said.

In a video address to the summit, Zelenskyy joined Biden in trying to persuade the G20 to further isolate Russia diplomatically and economically, despite a souring global financial outlook that has tested many nations' resolve.

Sunak, who took office last month, has promised to continue his conservative predecessors' steadfast support for Ukraine. He and Biden were set to strategise during their Wednesday meeting on new ways to bolster Ukraine's defenses for the long haul. AP

India abstains from UN vote seeking Russia reparation

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA was among the 73 countries that abstained from a UN vote to hold Russia accountable for the conflict in Ukraine. The non-binding resolution called for creation of a framework for Russian reparations saying it must bear the legal consequences of all its internationally wrongful acts, including any damage caused by them.

In the explanation to the abstention, India's Permanent Representative to the UN, Ruchira Kamboj, urged the gathering to consider whether a reparation process through a vote in UNGA would contribute to efforts at resolving the conflict. Besides, the legal validity of such a process by a UNGA resolution remained unclear, she pointed out. "We must, therefore, not create mechanisms and set precedents without adequate international legal vetting that have implications for the future functioning of the UN and the international economic system...We need to avoid steps which preclude or put in danger the possibility of dialogue and negotiations and of bringing this conflict to an end," she added.

Reiterating PM Narendra Modi's assertion to Russian President Putin that "this is not an era of war", Kamboj said, "with this firm resolve to strive for a peaceful solution through dialogue and diplomacy, India has decided to abstain on the resolution." In all, 94 of the 193 UNGA members voted in favour of the resolution, 14 voted against and 73 abstained.

Air India asked to pay $121 million in refunds

Airline says refunds mostly pertain to pandemic period

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

IN a setback to Air India, the US Transport Department has ordered Tata Group-owned Air India to pay $121 million as refunds and $1.4 million as penalties for extreme delays in providing refunds to passengers due to the cancellation or change in flights.

Air India confirmed that it has received a fine and accepted the same. "We very much regret that customers were inconvenienced and accept the fine," Air India said in a statement.

It added that the fines mostly pertain to the pandemic period during which Air India was owned and operated by the Government of India. The Tata Group took the ownership of the airline earlier in January this year.

"Since Air India was privatised in January 2022, every effort has been made to clear all backlogged refunds, with over 25,000 cases totalling $18.30 million successfully processed. New systems have been implemented to expedite the processing of new refunds, which are now turned around, on average, within one week," the full-service carrier noted. Air India is among the six airlines that have agreed to pay over $600 million as refunds, said the US Department of Transportation said on Monday. Air India's policy of "refund on request" is contrary to the Department of Transportation policy, which mandates air carriers to legally refund tickets in case of cancellation or change in flight. "When a flight gets cancelled, passengers seeking refunds should be paid back promptly. Whenever that doesn't happen, we will act to hold airlines accountable on behalf of American travellers and get passengers their money back." said US Transportation Secretary Pete Buttigieg. "A flight cancellation is frustrating enough, and you shouldn't also have to haggle or wait months to get your refund." According to an official investigation, Air India took more than 100 days to process over half of the 1,900 refund complaints filed with the Department of Transportation for flights that the carrier cancelled or significantly changed.

SRI LANKA

MUST IMPLEMENT BUDGET PROPOSALS TO AVOID RETURN TO CRISIS

Sri Lanka needs to implement budget proposals and reform measures to start earning crucial foreign exchange to help stabilise its economy and ensure it does not return to crisis, its central bank chief said on Tuesday. The Sri Lankan economy can turn around by the end of 2023 if budget policies, which are not limited to the International Monetary Fund's recommendations, are followed, President Ranil Wickremesinghe said in his budget speech on Monday. Governor P Nandalal Weerasinghe, in remarks at a discussion on the budget, said the situation in the island nation was stable but at a very low point. Soaring inflation, a weakening currency and low foreign exchange reserves have left the island of 22 million people struggling to pay for imports of essentials such as food, fuel and medicine and in dire need of an IMF bailout. Sri Lanka signed a staff-level agreement with the IMF in early September but needs to get financing assurances from multiple creditors, including China and Japan, to secure disbursements.

SOUTH KOREA

'MACROECONOMIC POLICY NEEDS TO BE FLEXIBLE'

Bank of Korea (BOK) monetary policy committee member Suh Young-kyung said on Tuesday that monetary policy needs to be flexible, as trade-offs have intensified between external and internal financial stabilities. "There is a need to operate macroeconomic policy in a flexible manner in order to maintain internal and external balances," Suh said, speaking at a policy forum held in Seoul. The comments come amid growing expectations that South Korea's central bank may scale back its tightening pace, in response to heightened worries about a credit crunch in domestic short-term money markets, triggered by a government-backed property developer's default. In order to respond to inflation pressure from a weak currency, a policy tightening stance should remain, Suh said. But that stance needs to be eased if an economic slowdown due to the spillover from a local credit crunch arises, she said. The BOK board member said difficulties increased due to inversion of policy rates in South Korea and the US.

JAPAN

ECONOMY SHRINKS AS INFLATION, SLOWDOWN TAKE TOLL

Japan's economy unexpectedly shrank for the first time in a year in the third quarter, stoking further uncertainty about the outlook as global recession risks, a weak yen and higher import costs took a toll on household consumption and businesses.The world's third-biggest economy has struggled to motor on despite the recent lifting of COVID curbs, and has faced intensifying pressure from red-hot global inflation, sweeping interest rate increases worldwide and the Ukraine war. GDP fell an annualized 1.2% in July-September, official data showed, compared with economists' median estimate for a 1.1% expansion and a revised 4.6% rise in the second quarter. It translated into a quarterly decline of 0.3%, versus a forecast of 0.3% growth. Japan has also been dealing with the challenge of the yen's slide to 32-year lows against the dollar, which has magnified cost-of-living strains by further lifting the price of everything from fuel to food items.

India's export declines 17% in October to $29.78 billion

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIA'S merchandise exports fell 17% to $29.78 billion in October amid global slowdown and Ukraine-Russia crisis, commerce ministry data released on Tuesday showed.

The merchandise trade deficit expanded to $26.91 billion from $25.71 billion in September. Overall exports plummeted sequentially to $58.36 billion in October, 4.5% lower than $61.10 billion in September this year. However, exports have risen on year-on-year (YoY) basis by 4.03%. In addition, imports increased to $73 billion in October from $65.28 billion in the previous month. Though merchandise import fell to $56.69 billion in October from $61.16 billion in September, as per the ministry data. According to commerce secretary Sunil Barthwal, global headwinds are affecting consumption globally, which would have impacted India's exports as well. The World Trade Organisation (WTO) has stated that the worldwide trade growth will increase by 3.5% in FY22 but only 1% in FY23.

"India's share in global merchandise trade is 1.8% and in global services, it stands at 4%. There is a lot of potential to increase this. We should not be depressed by the WTO forecast. Monetary tightening in the US and Europe is impacting demand globally," Barthwal said.

"Export slowdown has been caused both by supply and demand side factors," said Prahalathan Iyer, Chief General Manager, Research & Analysis, India Exim Bank.

Rupee trade with Russia yet to take off

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

NO transactions have taken place so far in the Vostro accounts that the Russian banks have opened in local branches in India for rupee trade, officials from the ministry of Commerce and Industry told TNIE.

So far only accounts have been opened, it takes time to start making transactions through those accounts, said the official.

"This decision was taken very recently. There is a series of processes involved – banks have to open Vostro accounts, RBI has to issue certain guidelines. Importers will have to put money into these trade accounts, and then only they can set it off against their imports," the official said.

According to the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, nine banks have been given approval so far to open Vostro accounts for rupee trade with Russia. Gazprom has opened an account with UCO Bank, VTB Bank and SBER Bank have opened Vostro accounts with their own branch offices in India while six other banks have opened accounts with IndusInd Bank.The official expressed hope that transactions would start soon. "We are hopeful that with RBI guidelines, our (Commerce Ministry) guidelines and DFS (department of financial services) guidelines, soon there would be transactions through those accounts," said the official. On the question of larger banks not coming forward to open rupee trade accounts for Indo-Russia trade, the official admitted that banks with high exposure to dollar trade do not want to risk any sanctions from the US and hence they are reluctant to open rupee trade accounts with Russian banks.

According to officials, sanctions on Russian banks by the international community also make it difficult for Russian exporters to repatriate the money from Indian trade accounts.

Ecomm giant Amazon to fire 10,000 employees this week

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

ECOMMERCE giant Amazon is planning to fire 10,000 employees beginning this week, according to various reports.

It is said the cuts would impact retail division, HR and also employees in technology roles. Of its total 15.44 lakh staff globally(excluding contractors and temporary personnel), it would lay off less than 1% of the workforce. In Q3 2022, the company's operating income fell to $2.5 billion as against $4.9 billion in the year-ago period. Its net income fell to $2.9 billion in the third quarter. In FY22, Amazon India marketplace, Amazon Seller Services' net loss stood at ₹3,649 crore, 23% less than its previous loss in FY21. Amazon lay off announcement also comes at a time when big tech companies have already fired many employees. Last week, Meta announced that it would lay off 11,000 employees globally. Twitter too fired 3,700 employees across its offices.

Samsung, Apple yet to update 5G in many phones

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

A month after the government asked mobile phone companies to make their devices 5G compatible, leading companies like Samsung and Apple are yet to update many of their smartphones.

While Apple said it will start rolling out 5G updates (via a software update) to iPhone users in December, Samsung indicated rolling out over-the-air (OTA) updates across all its 5G devices by mid-November 2022.

However, according to the Airtel website, the South Korean tech giant is yet to update its flagship devices -- Galaxy Note 20 ultra, Samsung Flip3 and Samsung Fold 3. According to the Airtel website, Chinese tech giants Vivo, Oppo, Xiaomi and OnePlus have made their devices 5G compatible.

Chinese mobile maker Oppo announced that the majority of their 5G devices support Standalone (SA) 5G network. The company said it has collaborated with India's largest telecom operator Reliance Jio to build products that offer high speeds, superior reliability, and negligible latency for an immersive and True 5G experience. Further, any 5G device launched by OPPO India henceforth will be SA network enabled.

"OPPO India's dedicated efforts towards the development of 5G ecosystem in India will empower our users to experience True 5G. We are thankful to Jio for their contribution in supporting us on the same... All our upcoming 5G devices will be SA and NSA compatible," said Tasleem Arif, VP and R&D Head, OPPO India.

Indian telecom operators are rapidly upgrading their network to 5G. While Reliance Jio opted for Standalone 5G networks, Airtel chose non-standalone (NSA) network. Both of them have already rolled out their 5G services in many cities. But what is hampering the 5G rollout in the country is, many smartphones are not 5G-enabled or 5G network friendly.

ONGC pays ₹6,452 crore as windfall tax in Q2 as against ₹14 crore in Q1FY23

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

OIL AND NATURAL GAS CORPORATION (ONGC), India's top oil and gas producer, paid ₹6,452 crore as windfall tax or special additional excise duty (SAED) in the second quarter ending September 2022 (Q2FY23).

The company said if this levy was not there, ONGC profits would have surpassed its record earnings of July-September 2021. However, the windfall tax, which was levied by the government and revised every 15 days according to global oil prices, has inflated the company's excise duty manifold in the Q2 FY 2022-23.

The state-owned company paid ₹6,452 crore in the second quarter, as against ₹14 crore in the first quarter of FY23 and ₹7 crore in the previous year same quarter FY22. If the government had not levied windfall tax, the gas producer would have to pay only ₹18 crore in current quarter.

ONGC net fell 30% on windfall tax in Q2

Company paid `14 crore as windfall tax in the first quarter of FY23 and `7 crore in the previous year same quarter of FY22. If the government had not levied windfall tax, the gas producer would have to pay only `18 crore in current quarter. ONGC posted 30% fall in its net profit in Q2FY23

"The firm paid ₹6,400 crore as special additional excise duty (SAED) in the quarter... the mechanism to levy windfall profit tax ensures that the company gets $75-76 per barrel realisation," said Pomila Jaspal, ONGC Director (Finance) at investor call. The government introduced windfall tax or special additional excise duty (SAED) on July 1, 2022, on oil companies to take gains accruing from the global energy price surge. Thus, ONGC posted a 30% fall in its net profit in the second quarter. Its net profit was ₹12,825.99 crore in July-September 2022-23, as against ₹18,347.73 crore in the same period a year ago.

Prabhudas Lilladher in its report agreed that the recent government decision to impose windfall taxes will mean ONGC's crude oil realization will be $73 per barrel, thereby not benefiting from high commodity prices but gas prices will remain healthy. The company made six discoveries during the current fiscal year in the KG basin acreage it holds. Out of six discoveries notified till date during FY2022-23, two discoveries viz. Mandapeta-60 and Kesanapalli West Deep-7 have already been monetised by ONGC.

133% rise in UPI transactions

With increased UPI adoption by small businesses and consumers, there was a 133% rise in the number of transactions and a 124% growth in expenditure in 2022 compared to 2021

'Credit card users spent more this festive season'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

WITH banks offering reward points, discounts, deals and other add-on services on co-branded cards, credit cards have become the preferred mode of payment this festive season.

In terms of total expenditure, credit card users have spent about five times more than debit card users in 2022.

According to PayU's Insights Report- Festive edition, on an average, a credit card user has spent Rs 6,000 compared to a debit card user who spent Rs 2,500, in 2022. Also, credit card transactions and expenditures grew 42% and 84% YoY, respectively.

The report also said that credit repayment such as personal loans for consumers and businesses witnessed a 107% increase in expenditure and 105% increase in transactions over the last festive season.

"One of the highest categories for UPI spending was Credit Repayment, showing that Indians are increasingly repaying personal loans using UPI. Not surprisingly, debit card transactions declined by 34%," PayU said.

UPI is becoming the preferred choice of digital payments. With increased UPI adoption by small businesses and consumers, there was a 133% rise in the number of transactions and a 124% growth in expenditure in 2022 compared to 2021.

The average ticket size for UPI transactions has gone down marginally -4%. PayU says that consumers used UPI for small ticket items such as groceries, within city travel and entertainment, and that could be the reason for reduced ticket size.

Mumbai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Chennai and Delhi NCR are the top 5 cities that contribute to the highest number of transactions through UPI.

The report also said that there has been a 245% increase in expenditure and 130% increase in the number of transactions between the normal period of 2019 and post-pandemic period of 2022.

Nykaa stock nosedives 9% on issue of bonus shares, increased tax liabilities

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

SHARES of FSN E-Commerce Ventures, the parent firm of Nykaa, fell more than 9% on Tuesday, snapping the three-session winning run. The stock closed the Tuesday trading session at Rs 192, down 9.24% from previous day closing.

According to market experts, the sharp fall can be attributed to issue of bonus shares and the timing, which is expected to hurt retail investors due to increased tax liabilities arising out of the bonus issue. The beauty & personal care brand had earlier announced a bonus share issue in 5:1 ratio, meaning existing shareholders received five shares against every one share held as of November 11. The timing of this exercise by Nykaa overlapped with the expiry of the one-year lock-in period for pre-IPO investors on November 10. Nykaa, like other new-age company stocks, is having a dreadful run on the exchanges this year.

So far in 2022, the stock has tumbled 45% and there were concerns that it may witness further fall once the lock-in period gets over.

Many market experts had called out Nykaa's bonus share exercise a big setback for retail investors and had even questioned corporate governance.

Djokovic free to enter Australia, say reports

Novak Djokovic will be granted a visa to play in the 2023 Australian Open, local media reports said, despite his deportation from the country ahead of this year's tournament. The Australian government had decided to grant the unvaccinated Serb a visa for the Grand Slam, overturning a three-year ban after his ejection from the country, said ABC and other domestic media.

THE VOTE, ALLEGATIONS, ARRESTS AND THE DEAD

Qatar will host one of the most hotly disputed World Cups ever from November 20. These are the main disputes that Qatar has fought since FIFA made the decision 12 years ago...

CORRUPTION ALLEGATIONS

In August 2012, FIFA's ethics committee starts an investigation, led by former US prosecutor Michael Garcia, into voting for the 2018 World Cup in Russia and 2022. Hans-Joachim Eckert, head of the committee's adjudicatory chamber, said in his summary that Qatar and Russia had been cleared of wrongdoing. Garcia hit back that the summary was "materially incomplete". The report was finally published in June 2017. It highlighted some suspect financial transactions but nothing to justify taking the World Cup from Qatar. Since 2019, France has had a corruption inquiry into a lunch on November 23, 2010 between President Nicolas Sarkozy, UEFA president Michel Platini — who provided four European votes — and two senior Qatari officials. French media later reported a diplomatic note on the lunch which said the World Cup, fighter jets and anti-missile defences would be discussed.

PUSHED TO WINTER

In January 2014, FIFA's secretary general Jerome Valcke said that the 2022 World Cup would be held in the winter months of November-December for the first time because of the fierce heat in Qatar during June-July when temperatures can reach 50 degrees Celsius (125 Fahrenheit). In 2015, the FIFA executive committee confirmed that the dates would be November 21 to December 18. The opening game was brought forward to November 20 so that it would feature Qatar. Europe's top leagues are annoyed because it means they will have to stop playing for more than a month.

THE SURPRISE VOTE

FIFA leaders created a sensation on December 2, 2010 when Qatar beat the United States in a fourth round of voting for the 2022 World Cup. At the time only one of the eight World Cup stadiums existed and many doubts were raised about whether the energy-rich state would be ready to host one million football fans.

UNFORTUNATE CASUALTIES

- Amid growing criticism of Qatar's human rights record, the International Trade Union Confederation released a damning report, "The Case Against Qatar", which said migrant labourers live in "squalor" and work in "unbearable heat". Under pressure from international unions, Qatar starts major reforms from 2017 including dismantling most of the 'Kafala' employment system that meant labourers could not change jobs nor even leave the country. It introduced a minimum wage and new regulations on working in heat.
- Human rights groups say thousands of workers have died on Qatar's mega construction projects over the past 15 years. ITUC disputes the figures and its leader said in 2022 that Qatar had made significant progress that meant it had no objection to the World Cup.
- The International Labour Organisation quoted government figures as saying that 50 workers died in industrial accidents in 2020.
- Amnesty International, Human Rights Watch and other groups have demanded that FIFA and Qatar launch a compensation fund for migrant workers with $440 million, the figure given in World Cup prize money. Several sponsors and national federations back the call.
- The rights of women and the LGBTQ community in Qatar also come under international scrutiny. Homosexuality is a criminal offence. World Cup organisers say that all fans will be "welcome" without discrimination but do not defend the laws.

THE EARLY MORNING RAID AND ARRESTS

In an early morning raid in a popular hotel in Zurich in 2015, FIFA leaders were arrested relating to corruption charges revolving around securing the rights to host the 2018 and 2022 World Cups. The arrests were made on behalf of US officials. It then comes to light that the FBI had been investigating prominent FIFA officials for more than two years on charges including money laundering. "They were expected to uphold the rules that keep soccer honest. Instead they corrupted the business of worldwide soccer to serve their interests and enrich themselves," US attorney general, Loretta Lynch told a news conference in New York following the raid.

Retentions and deletions on expected lines

SRH & PBKS release captains but, by and large, the final players' list before mini IPL auction throws no surprises

GOMESH S @Chennai

IT was a teaser to the auction. Nothing veered off predictable lines but at the same time, it had its share of excitement. With the mini Indian Premier League (IPL) auction set to take place in Kochi on December 23, franchises released the final list of players retained, released or traded.

As expected, no franchise tinkered with the core group, They tried to address a few issues and plug holes based on performances from their players in the previous season. Sunrisers Hyderabad could be the team ushering in major changes. They released their skipper Kane Williamson, whom they had prioritised over Rashid Khan ahead of the mega auction in February this year.

Along with Williamson, they off-loaded West Indies' captain Nicholas Pooran. Both of them have had a forgettable 2022 in the IPL and are likely to go under the hammer. In Williamson's absence, SRH might be looking for a captain in the auction. If they look for options within as a stop-gap arrangement, they have Aiden Markram and Bhuvneshwar Kumar in the squad. That they have the biggest purse of ₹42.25 crore will come in handy.

As always eyes were on Mumbai Indians too, especially to see whether they would retain Kieron Pollard, who has had a couple of poor seasons on the trot. Pollard, who has been one of the pillars of the franchise and among the biggest match-winners in the tournament for over a decade, on Tuesday announced that he will be retiring from the IPL with immediate effect. He will now be their batting coach.

The franchise have retained England pacer Jofra Archer and would be hoping that he will be available for the upcoming season despite the packed calendar.

It comes as no surprise that the Chennai Super Kings have retained most of their big names, including captain MS Dhoni and Ravindra Jadeja. During their last league game this year, the 41-year-old had confirmed that he would be playing in 2023. While Pollard has retired, his fellow IPL stalwart from the Caribbean, Dwayne Bravo, has been released by CSK along with the overseas pace duo of Chris Jordan and Adam Milne.

CSK CEO Kasi Viswanathan said the fact that they will be returning to Chennai had a significant role in determining the retention of players. "It's a very tough call. The current decision is that we will be able to play in our home ground. We have taken that into account. We know that if there is an opportunity for any of them to come back, they will be back in CSK colours," he said on the franchise's site. CSK and Delhi Capitals have the maximum of six overseas slots to be filled.

Meanwhile, Royal Challengers Bangalore seem content with the squad they have. They have traded Jason Behrendorff and let go of four players. Unlike the past years, they have a settled side, and have opted for consistency and stability this time around, which could augur well for them. Same has been the case with Delhi, Rajasthan, Gujarat and Lucknow franchises. Kolkata will be missing the services of Pat Cummins, Sam Billings and Alex Hales and have traded Rahmanullah Gurbaz from Gujarat.

Athletes' panel: Mary, Sharath chief & deputy

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

MULTIPLE World Boxing Championships medallist and London Olympic bronze winner, Mary Kom, and multiple Asian and Commonwealth Games medallist in Table Tennis, A Sharath Kamal, will be the chairperson and the vice-chairperson of the IOA's Athletes' Commission. Selecting Sportspersons of Outstanding Merit will be their first challenge.

The 10 members elected unanimously on Monday chose their leaders and also two representatives who would be part of the general assembly. London Olympic bronze medallist in shooting, Gagan Narang, and multiple Olympic medallist in badminton, PV Sindhu, are part of the general assembly that will meet on December 10. Going by the constitution, they will have the right to vote. Mary and Sharath will be part of the Executive Council too. There were long discussions and there were allegations too that the members were already decided before the meeting. However, if athletes who attended the meeting are to be believed, the process was smooth. Since Mary was one of the senior sportspersons, all agreed with her as the chairperson.

Umesh Sinha, the Returning Officer of the IOA elections, said it was a great moment for him to witness the process of election. "The unanimous election of the two posts of this body was done in the most cordial and elegant manner," he told this newspaper.

Mary, while talking to this newspaper, said: "as the Commission's chairperson, I have a vision to take Indian sports to greater heights and take them to the Olympic podium. "I may not be a good administrator but I will work with my respected members to fulfil the dreams of our athletes. All the team members have good experience. It is also about sharing our ideas together and brining in a transparent and clean atmosphere in our sports system." For Sharath it was a surprise, but he's all ready to take up a new responsibility. "I have been on the court with the racquet. Now I have to be the voice of the athletes and I have to understand the administrative part also. Mary has been on the administrative part as a Member of Parliament and has been part of quite a few committees and commissions. For me, it is something new. But I am looking forward to the responsibility.

"My first job and a very important job given to us is the selection of the Sportspersons of Outstanding Merit (SOMs). We have to scrutinise the applications. If you look at it, you would be even shortlisting your idols. In sports, usually they would be shortlisting us but in administration it's the other was round. But it's a job and it needs to be done in the best possible way."

Gagan too felt it will be a big responsibility, "but I am looking forward to it. As an athlete, it took me over 15 years from picking the right sport and winning an Olympic medal."

"Being a member of the Athletes Commission will give me the opportunity to share my knowledge and experience beyond shooting and help the youngsters in picking the right sport and excelling in it. I believe our collective knowledge in technical training, sports science, anti-doping, sports compliance coupled with a strong network of partners will help us take Indian sport to greater heights. I would like to educate the budding athletes from picking their sport to following the values and spirit of sport. Achieving gender parity in Indian sport would be another area I would be looking forward to serving the athletes."

Shiva Keshavan, only Winter Olympian in the commission, said that he has lent his full support to the chairperson and the deputy. "When I was in the IOA earlier, there was resistance for change. I must thank the honourable SC for giving us this responsibility. History will judge us by what we do. Our biggest responsibility will be to select the SOMs. If any athlete has any problem you can approach me." Full story: newindianexpress.com

Nature of the beast: Skipper Williamson on scheduling

GOMESH S @Chennai

FOR the second time in as many years, New Zealand and India will be playing a white-ball series immediately after the T20 World Cup.

Having reached the final of the 2021 T20 World Cup, the Blackcaps had 48 hours before taking the field against India in Jaipur for a T20I series. Thanks to their semifinal defeat against Pakistan this year, New Zealand have had a week's time before their next assignment.

While not amused by the schedule, New Zealand skipper Kane Williamson said that it is what is, calling it the nature of the beast. Speaking ahead of the first T20I in Wellington on Friday, Williamson said that both the teams are aware of the challenges. "There are a number of players in the Indian side who are resting. They have brought in other players, clearly they see the challenges being faced with such a tight schedule. It's sort of the nature of the beast," he said in an interaction facilitated by Prime Video.

"Last year, being in the tournament for a little bit longer, the turnaround was quicker. This time, maybe there were a couple of more days, but that's sort of how the schedule is really. Not just the World Cup, the schedule prior has been busy for everybody and I suppose after major events, there is an opportunity, sometimes to rest to have a few days to relax and then you come back as a group. But as we know, the schedule is full, any opportunity and the occasion to play India at home is always special," he added.

It is not just New Zealand and India. Reigning white-ball champions England will have no time to celebrate their success. Three days after their victory in the final, England will be taking on Australia in a three-match ODI series starting Thursday, which is not even a part of the ICC ODI Super league. They will finish their tour to Australia, which began with three T20Is on October 9, in the same ground where they won the World Cup on November 22.

Unsurprisingly, it has had an impact on the players as well. With the packed international calendar and franchise-based leagues, players, too, have started to prioritise which tournament they want to play. Citing the scheduling, Australia's Pat Cummins has pulled out of IPL 2023. Earlier in August, left-arm pacer Trent Boult asked to release him of the central contract with New Zealand Cricket. And now, Boult has not been picked for the white-ball series against India. India vs NZ, Live on Prime Video from Nov 18.

EU vows more emissions cuts at UN climate talks

European Union will be able to exceed its original plan to cut emissions by 55%

CLIMATE

SHARM EL SHEIKH: The EU vowed to step up its emissions cuts at UN climate talks on Tuesday as developing nations admonished rich polluters for falling short on efforts to help them cope with global warming.

The COP27 conference in Egypt has been dominated by calls for wealthy nations to fulfil pledges to fund the green transitions of poorer countries least responsible for global emissions, build their resilience and compensate them for climate-linked losses. The meeting comes as global emissions are slated to reach an all-time high this year, making the aspirational goal of limiting warming to 1.5 degrees Celsius compared to preindustrial levels ever more elusive.

European Commission Vice President Frans Timmermans told delegates that the European Union will update its climate commitment as it will be able to exceed its original plan to cut emissions by 55% by 2030. The 27-nation bloc will now be able to cut greenhouse gas emissions by 57% from 1990 levels, he said.

"The European Union is here to move forwards, not backwards," Timmermans told COP27 delegates.

The invasion of Ukraine by fossil fuel exporter Russia has cast a shadow over the talks in Egypt, with activists accusing Europeans of seeking to tap Africa for natural gas following Russian supply cuts.

But Timmermans denied that the 27-nation bloc was in a "dash for gas" in the wake of the Ukraine conflict.

"So don't let anybody tell you here or outside that the EU is backtracking," he said.

Campaigners said the EU announcement did not go far enough. "This small increase announced today at COP27 doesn't do justice to the calls from the most vulnerable countries at the front lines," said Chiara Martinelli, of Climate Action Network Europe.

"If the EU, with a heavy history of emitting greenhouse gases, doesn't lead on mitigating climate change, who will?"

COP27 has exposed deep divisions between wealthy polluters and nations vulnerable to the most ferocious climate impacts.

"The lack of leadership and ambition on mitigating greenhouse gas emissions is worrisome," said Senegalese Environment Minister Alioune Nodoye, speaking on behalf of the Least Developed Countries Group. Belize Climate Change Minister Orlando Habet called for more action from the G20 group of the world's wealthiest nations, which are responsible for 80% of global emissions and are meeting at summit in Indonesia.

NASA MOON ROCKET ON TRACK FOR LAUNCH

SPACE

CAPE CANAVERAL: Third time's the charm?

After two failed attempts, NASA plans to launch its new mega Moon rocket early on Wednesday from Florida, less than a week after the massive machine withstood a hurricane.

"Our time is coming. And we hope that is on Wednesday," said Mike Sarafin, the manager of the much-delayed Artemis 1 mission, at NASA headquarters.

The Artemis 1 mission, a test flight without astronauts, represents the first step in the US space agency's plan to build a lasting presence on the Moon, and taking lessons from there to prepare for a future voyage to Mars. Named after the sister of Apollo in Greek mythology, the new space programme comes 50 years after humans last set foot on lunar soil.

The first launch of the Space Launch System rocket, the most powerful ever designed by NASA, is set for Wednesday at 1:04 am local time, with a possible launch window of two hours. Countdown has already begun at the storied Kennedy Space Center, where the orange and white behemoth awaits its maiden flight.

The takeoff is scheduled less than a week after the passage of Hurricane Nicole, which the rocket endured outside on its launch pad.

For now, officials are evaluating the risk associated with hurricane damage to a thin strip of caulk-like material called RTV, which encircles the Orion crew capsule atop the rocket, and makes it more aerodynamic.

Teams are looking at whether the RTV could shake loose during launch and pose problems. Two backup dates are possible if needed, on November 19 and 25.

The weather promises to be mild, with a 90% chance of favourable conditions during the launch window.

At the end of September, the rocket had to be wheeled back to its assembly building to be sheltered from another hurricane, Ian. Before these weather setbacks, two launch attempts had to be canceled for technical reasons.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Automatic brakes may cut crashes

TECH

Two new US studies show that automatic emergency braking can cut the number of rear-end automobile crashes in half, and reduce pickup truck crashes by more than 40%. The studies, one by a government-auto industry partnership and the other by the insurance industry, each used crash data to make the calculations. Automatic emergency braking can stop vehicles if a crash is imminent, or slow them to reduce the severity. Some automakers are moving toward a voluntary commitment by 20 companies to make the braking technology standard equipment on 95% of their light-duty models. A study found front-to-rear crashes were cut 49% when the striking vehicle had forward collision alert plus automatic braking, when compared with vehicles that didn't have either system.

Bhavana Ramanna recently made her theatre debut. CE catches up with the veteran actor as she speaks about the difficulties in adjusting to a new medium, portraying yesteryear icon Kalpana and more

'I'm still not confident on stage'

DESE GOWDA

MORE than four decades after her tragic passing, iconic Kannada actor Kalpana – known for her immaculate sense of fashion, and complex and often tragic roles – still serves as an icon of women empowerment. Over the years, the life and death of the 'evergreen actor' has been retold in several mediums, with the latest attempt being a play based on author Ravi Belegere's book Kalpana Vilasa. It was performed earlier this month at Ravindra Kalakshetra.

Veteran Kannada actor Bhavana Ramanna took up the challenge of portraying Kalpana in her debut theatre performance. A recipient of multiple state awards, Ramanna says portraying 'Minugutaare' on stage was a painful and arduous experience with the depressing script taking a toll on her emotional state. "When I first read the script ahead of rehearsals, I was too disturbed. I thought of calling off the whole thing, thinking maybe it wasn't the right thing for me. But then, I slowly realised that I was connecting with the story too much and had to detach myself from it. Despite a lot of dilemma, I managed to get through it," shares Ramanna, adding that she had to make a conscious effort to not imitate Kalpana and at the same time ensure that her performance would be respectful to the late actor's memory.

Bhavana Ramanna recently essayed the role of Kalpana (inset)in the play Kadeya Dinagalu | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Ramanna grew up admiring the late actor which is why she took up the role as a tribute. "The persona that Kalpana reflected on screen stands out even now. She was always graceful in the characters she portrayed. Her iconic roles are still fresh in those who watched her growing up," she shares.

After nearly two decades in the film industry, Ramanna never anticipated acting on stage. The vastly different mediums required her to make several changes to her approach. "I have always tried to ensure that my body language doesn't seep into my roles. But in theatre, body language is crucial. Without creative cinematography, sound effects and more to supplement efforts, you'll need to do more to connect with the audience," she explains, adding that she would frequently forget to face the audience during rehearsals and found it difficult to go through a range of emotions within a short period of time.

Does she plan to continue doing theatre after a successful debut? Ramanna expresses uncertainty. "The kind of response I'm receiving is flattering, but I haven't decided whether to continue or not. I'm still not confident on stage and I'm unable to hold the attention of viewers for long. This, being a realistic role helped me, but theatre often includes surreal elements, which are not easy," she shares.

South cinema is having a moment right now, with back-to-back blockbusters taking the country by storm. Weighing in on the success of Kannada films, Ramanna feels the creative use of technology by the new generation has led them to scale new heights, but on the other hand, she feels films these days lack emotional depth. Apart from films that were commercially successful such as Kurigalu Saar Kurigalu, Ramanna has also undertaken experimental films such as Shanti in which she was the sole cast member. The ever-increasing polarisation in public opinion, especially on social media has meant that creators no longer want to make thought provoking movies, she feels.

"If Dharani Mandala Madhyadolage had been made today, it would have been hard to get people to accept it. When every artiste is working to build an audience with their works, a few opinions tend to spread like wildfire on social media and have a negative impact. It's all too much," she says.

AROUND BAMBOO

City-based architect Neelam Manjunath, who was involved in the design of T2 at KIA, speaks about her work with bamboo and what it means to live sustainably

DESE GOWDA

THE much-anticipated terminal 2 at the Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) was recently inaugurated. Amid the glitz and glam of the inaugural ceremony, only a few know that a large part of the terminal is constructed out of engineered bamboo. Neelam Manjunath, a city-based architect, scientist and activist was also involved in the design and building of T2 at KIA.

Known for her use of low-energy materials and technology in numerous projects across the world, Manjunath has been working with bamboo for more than two decades now. One of the lead speakers at the Latitude Southern Regional Conference, organised recently in the city by the Indian Institute of Architects, Manjunath says, "I've been looking for different kinds of materials, building systems, technologies, which would make a building work without much energy."

Manjunath, who took keen interest in sustainable materials and building practices as early as her college days, first started working with bamboo in 1999, when she was asked to remodel a dilapidated brick building in Raj Bhavan at the request of the then Karnataka governor V S Ramadevi. Despite earning little to nothing from the job, Manjunath took up the project to showcase what can be achieved with bamboo.

As India hurtles towards becoming the most populous country in the world within the next decade, Manjunath believes bamboo will be key to the country's ongoing housing crisis. "It's impossible to make enough houses for the masses, built out of cement and steel, because these materials are non-renewable and will run out eventually," she says, adding, "We are the second largest producer of bamboo in the world. It grows very fast. The material doesn't require extensive machinery, so it's relatively easy to build. But the biggest factor for bamboo is its energy balance. Concrete and steel require an astonishing amount of energy, just to produce and offer no ambience benefits unlike bamboo."

NURSING A COMMUNITY

Anna Qabale Duba, winner of a prestigious award, shares her story and fight against female genital mutilation in Kenya

TUNIR BISWAS

PIC: NAGARAJA GADEKAL

NURSE Anna Qabale Duba had first come to Bengaluru in 2016 to seek medical attention for her brother who was battling throat cancer. Her brother, a government official, was the first person to go abroad for medical help from Turbo, Kenya, a town located near the borders of Kenya and Ethiopia. While the trips to India were fruitful as Duba's brother survived cancer, he passed away due to some local disturbances in the area. Despite a hefty personal loss, Duba's fight to better the standard of her community continues to this day, an effort that began over a decade ago.

Her reason to visit the city this time has been positive. Duba was honoured as the first-ever recipient of the Aster Guardians Global Nursing Award and received a cash prize of $ 2,50,000 (approx ₹2 cr). She is on an India tour to share her story and visited Aster CMI Hospital in Hebbal.

She first came across the award on Facebook. "I applied and shared the story of my community. My work outside of my profession gave me an upper hand," says Duba, who works as a nurse at the Marsabit County Referral Hospital, Kenya. Duba has been fighting against the cultural practice of female genital mutilation (FGM) in her community. "I come from a community that has a strong culture, unfortunately, FGM is a part of it. I underwent it when I was 12. I narrowly escaped forced marriage at 14. As someone who has been able to 'make it' despite such challenges, I decided to go back home and fight against FGM. It's not easy as it is deep-rooted in my culture. We're not forced to undergo it, we just think it is the right thing to do. In our campaign, some people would accuse us of trying to westernise them. The change has been gradual," shares Duba, the first graduate from her town.

One of the ways she has used education to battle against archaic practices is by establishing a school where both children and their parents come to study. "In my school, the children come during the day and parents come during the evening. We are teaching these parents to read and write and also about reproductive health and rights. We feel as long as girls are going to school, they would be able to refuse undergoing FGM," says Duba. After receiving global recognition for winning the nursing award, the community has given her land to build a boarding school and even set up a clinic.

She believes in this day and age, it is necessary to share one's story. "We might be doing amazing work in our field but if we do not share it, it's known only to you," says Duba, who was recently celebrated as one of her country's heroes on October 20 by the Kenyan President on Mashujaa Day, also known as Heroes' Day.

Coping with the loss in a cricket tournament

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

LAST week's T20 tournament brought heartbreak for Indian fans. After having a dicey tournament and barely scraping through to the knockout phases, India eventually bowed out after being comprehensively beaten by England. It was doubly ironic and sad because India has the richest cricket board in the world. The BCCI has been running the IPL for nearly 15 years now, and calls the shots in world cricket. It's tantamount to the USA not winning any tournaments in basketball after inventing and making the sport popular across the world. To add insult to injury, India plays the most cricket among all of the 10 cricket playing nations in the world. But it's been 13 years since India won an ICC tournament at the world stage.

The weekend was filled with sad posts on social media mourning the Indian team's loss. There were, of course, some salty posts that celebrated Pakistan's loss in the finals. But it is undeniable that Pakistan, a much poorer cricket board without access to the hi-tech gadgetry and technology available to us – played their hearts out better than the Indian team did.

For most youngsters, it might feel heartbreaking. But allow a senior citizen from the 90s to guide you through the sorrow. For you see, nobody understands disappointment more than a '90s kid. To paraphrase Bane in The Dark Knight - 'You merely feel disappointment. We were born in it'. It was an era without options. Travelling meant visiting your grandparents for summer vacations. Chocolates meant candies that stuck to your teeth and only came out when the dentist uprooted your teeth for eating too many chocolates. In an age bereft of social media and smartphones, the television was the No.1 entertainer in the house. And without too many cable TV channels, cricket was the only factor that caused a flutter of excitement in our heavily moderated lives.

And there is no greater tragedy than an Indian cricket fan's life in the '90s. It was the era when India could hardly be ranked among the top sides in the world. We frequently lost to Pakistan in crunch situations. Sri Lanka was Kryptonite for our supermen. If India were playing Australia or South Africa, it was almost a guaranteed loss. You had to cry into your pillow and go to school the next day. That was life. And since much of human greatness comes from passing on our knowledge to the next generation, here are my tips to deal with the loss.

Look for other sports. The dismal performance of the Indian cricket team in the '90s helped me gravitate to other sports like tennis and boxing. Individual sports do not have the toxic jingoism of team sports. Pick and support a team every year for the Premier League. It helps you move on from one relationship to the other quickly. Last year, I was rooting for Liverpool. This year, I'm gunning for Manchester City. Next year, it'll be someone else.

To quote my long-gone friend Bukowksi: Develop a hobby. Start believing in God. Raise a child. Donate blood. Feed pigeons mangoes in winter. Run a marathon. Drink from noon to next noon. Cast your vote and vote your caste. Start investing in crypto. Compete in sports you have never played a single day in life. Take leave from work. Land up in Cambodia. But please – for the love of God – stop getting emotionally attached to the performance of the Indian cricket team. You can thank me later by attending my standup shows in person. You're welcome!

It is a story that will keep readers of all ages hooked until the end. 'GAUTAMBHAI HAD BEGUN TO FEEL BURDENED BY THE PRESSURES'

TURNING PAGES

AS the boy moved from childhood to adolescence, the first signs of a sharp intellect and the urge to be ahead of others became evident. Whether it was walking on the parapet of his maternal uncle's two-storey house in the village or challenging his peers to solve ukhana, verbal puzzles in Gujarati, each situation provided one more opportunity to test the frontiers of what could be dared, and achieved. 'Impossible is a word that does not exist in Gautambhai's dictionary,' says Jay Shah, a long-time friend. The childhood games and pranks were probably the breeding ground for such a disposition.

Gautambhai has always believed in daring to do the unconventional. And what many thought as being brash was his way of testing his own mettle to see how far opportunities could be tapped.

For Gautambhai, life is all about transformation. First, he transforms himself, and then he expects this from others as well. And while he is great at delegation, he expects every member of his team to report to him directly on the progress of the work he has been assigned. He lends a hand, if the job has hit an unexpected obstacle and helps to decide quickly on the go/no-go options. Even today, he works for nearly eleven to twelve hours a day at his office.

In earlier years too, nobody ever thought of him as a contented child, or at peace with the world. For him, life offered, at each stage, one more opportunity to push forward, one more chance to dream the impossible dream. As the previous chapter stated, the favourite word to describe him was toofani. Gautambhai moved to Ahmedabad with his parents in the early 1970s, and his academic competence won him an admission at Sheth C.N. Vidyalaya, in 1974, a highly reputed school in Ahmedabad. He appeared for his secondary school exams (SSC) in 1977; his performance won him admission in the coveted science stream in Standard XI at the school.

After heeding his uncle's advice, the teenager decided to move to Bombay (now Mumbai) to pursue his dreams. He stayed with his elder brother Vinodbhai, a wholesaler of cut-piece fabrics for Bipin Mills and Rajesh Mills, and decided to try his hand at trading in diamonds.

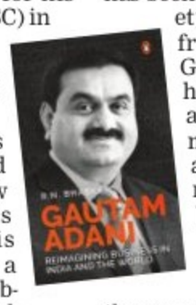
Gautambhai would have preferred to embrace the earn-and-you-learn model for growth and development. But the fates had other plans for him.

Diamonds beckon

Gautam studied for a couple of months at a South Mumbai college. The diamond trading office was very close to the college. He went to the diamond markets in the morning, learned diamond sorting and assessment at Mahendra Brothers and then went to college.

But in his attempt to excel at business, he found it difficult to mark attendance at college. Realizing that he could not meet attendance norms as well as do business the way he wanted to, he decided, within six months of life as a college student, to become a full-time diamond trader in Dhanji Street.

Devendra R. Amin, who has now retired from the Adani Group, and who was senior VP, corporate communications, says, 'Gautambhai is not constrained by a "formal" education. Formal education teaches you what has been done and how it has been done in the past in a variety of disciplines ranging from science to business. Gautambhai was lucky that he did not go through such an education, which normally produces consultants and not entrepreneurs, or say, "worker bees" and not the "queen bee".



What is needed for growth and progress is the queen bee. A lack of formal education allows him to think out of the box and make swift decisions.'

Vinod Adani recalls how within a month of joining college, Gautambhai had begun to feel burdened by the pressures of attending college and coping with the demands of the diamond trade. He would be so tired that he would often go to sleep in the suburban train, overshooting the station he was supposed to get off at. Everything conspired to the eventual decision to give up studying. He began to solely focus on diamond trading instead. He entered into a partnership with his maternal cousins, Girish and Prakash, to trade in diamonds. In many ways, diamond trading honed Gautam's instincts in finance.

Powerful Executive Presence: A Key Differentiator in a Leader's Growth

KSHITIJ SHARMA

It is not unusual for many senior leaders in the corporate world to hit a plateau or experience a very slow growth trajectory in their careers despite being highly capable.

The 3 Big Myths Hindering Growth

Through the course of my experience of two decades in people development and over the last ten years as a professional Executive Coach, I have had the chance to work with over 1000 leaders across diverse sectors such as Aviation, Consulting. Services, Audit, BFSI, IT ITES, and many more. I have identified three broad myths about why some senior leaders hit a career plateau after some time.

Myth 1

Myth around Skill Set - To succeed, only technical skills matter

Myth 2:

Myth around Mind-Set: "Let my work speak for itself...why should I brag about it or blow my trumpet."

Myth 3

Myth around Being: "I am not good enough..."

So it's high time to identify which of these myths prevent our growth journey and start working to hone our Executive Presence.

What is Executive Presence?

Sylvia Ann Hewitt, the author of the book Executive Presence, says, "Executive Presence is the missing link between Merit and Success."

Some leaders do not succeed despite having the required merit. The lack of powerful Executive Presence veers the leaders away from desired success.

How to go about doing it

Learning or knowing about oneself:

The first step is to know, 'Where am I now'. Become aware of how your ecosystem is currently perceiving you. Seek 360-degree feedback from your colleagues and other important stakeholders. Seeking feedback will help you become clear about the exact area where you need to hone your executive presence. It could be a blind spot for you. It could be either your ability to articulate your thoughts effectively or your ability to influence, or meeting presence, gravitas, etc.

Going through the positive intelligence assessment can give an excellent idea of your potential saboteurs preventing your growth. This assessment is freely available at (https://www.positiveintelligence.com/saboteurs/)

Make a solid resolve

The second step will be to make an intent and a solid resolve to work on it. Following that, set a goal to have a powerful Executive Presence. Nothing moves unless you make a resolve.

Another step could be to identify those peers, seniors, and industry veterans who, in your opinion, exhibit a powerful Executive Presence. Set up time with them for a one-on-one role modelling discussion.

Find your Coach

And finally, work with an executive coach /seasoned mentor. A coach acts as a sounding board. They are someone who asks powerful questions to set you thinking. Deliberate practice and focused efforts in working with a coach can give incredible results in a very short time frame.

RAJ B SHETTY WRAPS UP FILMING SWATHI MUTTHINA MALE HANIYE

Lauding Siri Ravikumar for giving an extraordinary performance, Raj shares that they finished shooting the film in 18 days

CE FEATURES

RAJ B Shetty, the maker of Ondu Motteya Kathe and Garuda Gamana Vrishabha Vahana, has wrapped up his third directorial, Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye. An official post about the shooting being completed was posted by the production house, Apple Box Studios, which will mark the first production venture of actor Ramya.

Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye was supposed to be Ramya's comeback film, which stars Raj B Shetty in the lead. However, due to some last-minute changes, Ramya decided to just produce the project, and actor Siri Ravikumar was roped in.

Raj, who has set the film in parts of Ooty and Mysuru, says that the film was shot in a single schedule of 18 days. "We went with simple locations, and that's why we could complete the shoot in such a short time. The best part of this project was that I could create something that I love even in chaos," says Raj, who lauds Siri Ravikumar for giving an extraordinary performance in Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye.

Raj strongly believes that Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye, which will now move into post-production, is a project that will do very well on OTT, and a call will be taken by the production house whether to go for a direct digital release. Apart from Raj and Siri, Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye stars Balaji Manohar, Surya Vasishta, and Rekha Kudligi in important roles. The film will have music by Midhun Mukundan and cinematography by Praveen Shriyan.

Meanwhile, Raj B Shetty plans to start shooting for Rudhiram, his Malayalam debut helmed by Jisho Lon Anthony, in February. As for Ramya, the actor will now be making her comeback with Rohit Padaki 's Uttarakaanda, which stars Dhananjay in the lead.

Dandupalya gang gets a brutal end in Srinivas Raju's style

HUBLI DHABA
Cast: Ravi Shankar, Naveen Chandra, Naina Ganguly, and Divya Pillai, Pooja Gandhi, Makarand Deshpande
Director: Srinivas Raju

A SHARADHAA

DIRECTOR Srinivas Raju's fascination for gangster dramas, especially the criminal nexus of Karnataka (such as the Dandupalya gang), never seems to die down. The director, who had previously come up with a trilogy about the Dandupalya gang, had gone in depth about its nefarious activities and given his perspectives from all angles over the last 10 years.

It now appears that he's decided to conclude the notorious gang's story with Hubli Dhaba, which has extremes of love, violence, bloodthirst, and drugs weaved into the film as three subplots.

The entire story is centered around the Hubli Dhaba and the spotlight is on Chalapathi (Ravi Shankar), a police officer who handled the case of the Dandupalya gang. He is currently investigating a murder, which has taken place at a newly married couple's house and the clues lead to a Dhaba. The second plot is about a drug dealer transporting a huge consignment. And the third is about the Dandupalya gang members, who are being transported for capital punishment. The narrative of the three plots goes back and forth, and the intrigue factor is raised by conceptualising the gang's backstory.

The previous films about Dandupalya by Srinivas Raju gave us glimpses into the gangsters' dangerous lifestyle, and their killing spree. With Hubli Dhaba, Srinivas Raju has managed to neatly blend the plots with a good presentation and a straightforward narrative. It is a technically strong film with the cinematography, background score, and editing elevating the film.

RATING 2.5/5

As for the actors, it is Ravi Shankar's show all the way, and he excels with his dialogue delivery, expressions, and hits the high notes with the action sequence. Naveen Chandra, Naina Ganguly, and Divya Pillai add the glam quotient to the story. A special mention should go to the characters of Dandupalya, played by Makarand Deshpande, Pooja Gandhi, Ravi Kale, , and Deepak among others who stayed close to their respective characters and made their presence felt.

Hubli Dhaba is surely for those who have liked Srinivas Raju's filmmaking style and are fans of gangster dramas.
